MYSTERY MURDER, DISAPPEARANCE, ARSON LINKED WITH MACON LANDLADY IN "INSURANCE SLAYING"

C. S. Carnes Back in Tower To Aid Insurance Fight

'TOTAL DISABILITY' OF EX-TREASURER IS BASIS OF CLAIM

EMBEZZLER LOOKS DRAWN AND PALE

Former Affluent Business Man Appears in Poor Health, But Insists That He Will Recover.

Clinton S. Carnes, imprisoned ex-treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, is back in Atlanta to aid the mission board and his family fight for insurance benefits they claim are due because Carnes, in the last stages of tuberculosis, is totally disabled.

The million-dollar embezzler has been in the Fulton tower since early Tuesday morning, it was learned Wednesday afternoon. Under heavy guard he was brought from the state prison farm by motor car and lodged in his old cell. He will be here for the remainder of this week.

Plan Court Action.

Officials of the Baptist Mission Board and Mrs. Carnes, who since her husband's imprisonment, has been living in a small cottage on Seminole avenue, plan court action against the several insurance companies with which Carnes held policies unless payment of total disability benefits are begun at once, it was learned Wednesday.

Carnes was brought here for medical examination by his own physician, physicians in the employ of the mission board and others in the service of the insurance companies. These examinations are to begin this morning. Whether or not they are to be conducted in the tower or elsewhere could not be learned Wednesday night.

Included in his assets, turned over to the mission board when the compromise sentence of five years imprisonment for Carnes was agreed upon, life insurance policies totalling $110,000 were turned over to the mission board and other policies, which are said to total $15,000, made over to Mrs. Carnes and her two sons.

Clauses in all these contracts, it is said, provide for benefits in the event of total disability. The mission board will benefit to the extent of $350 a month if these benefits are paid. What Mrs. Carnes will receive could not be learned.

Wife, Boys "In Need."

Officials of the mission board denied Wednesday that Carnes' return here had any connection whatever with the reorganization of the board which got under way Wednesday at a meeting at the Henry Grady hotel.

The arrival of Carnes at the tower was kept a secret until it leaked out Wednesday. Carnes was in conference with one of his former lawyers, James A. Branch, of Branch & Howard, and after the conference Mr. Branch announced that he intended to look after Broken in health and making a last effort to aid in recovery of funds for the Baptist Foreign Mission board and his wife through insurance disability claims, Clinton S. Carnes, imprisoned ex-treasurer of the church board, consented to pose for newspaper photographers in the Fulton county tower Wednesday for the first time since he became enmeshed in the toils of the law for misappropriation of mission funds.

REPARATIONS BODY AGREES ON TERMS ON GERMAN DEBT

Both Sides Agree on Amount of Payments, But There Still Remain Other Conditions.

BY SAMUEL DASHIELL,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Paris, May 29.—The problem of fixing definitely the amount of war reparations which Germany must pay the former allied nations is settled, but is still subject to agreement on a few remaining conditions, according to an announcement tonight.

Thomas W. Lamont, member of the unofficial United States delegation to the reparations experts' conference, informed the press of the settlement, which follows almost four months' of difficult negotiations among representatives of the six creditor nations and Germany.

Formal announcement of German acceptance of the Young compromise plan annual payment schedule, as revised to start September 1, was announced by Ludwig Kastl, member of the German delegation. He returned tonight from Versailles, where he had conferred with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief German delegate.

"Dr. Schacht has given his adhesion," Kastl said in reference to the figures calling for average annual payments of $479,570,000 for the 58-year period.

Kastl said no signatures had been exchanged, but the accord is "an accomplished fact."

Lamont said his announcement was made with the approval of all delegations at the conference.

Statement Issued.

The statement said:

"Both creditor and German experts have heretofore declared themselves willing to accept the annuity figures of 20,060,000,000 marks (about $400,280,000 annual payments) as suggested by the chairman, although differences existed on the question of interpretation.

"This difference has now been removed and a common basis of interpretation acceptable to both creditors and Germany has been found, subject, however, to agreement on the outstanding conditions which still remain for discussion and settlement."

The chairman of the committee of experts is Owen D. Young, head of the American delegation. Young's compromise plan for annual payments was introduced into the negotiations some weeks ago after it became apparent that other attempts to reach an agreement must fail.

58 Yearly Payments.

The Young compromise provides for payments over period of 58 years, which is 21 years longer than the offer made by the German delegates.

The payments would be graduated over the first 37-year period, reaching their maximum the last year. The final 21-year period of payments would be on a smaller scale and the Germans would have the assistance of profits from the proposed international bank.

The international bank, as outlined by the experts, is for the purpose of handling the reparations payments and probably would develop into an increasingly important institution. The experts have emphasized, however, that the bank is not primarily a profit-making institution.

Latest plans of the experts call for the compromise plan to start September 1 and, to that end, a new set of annual payments was drawn up today and transmitted to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief German delegate, who is resting at Versailles. The French, however, have objected to starting the plan in September and their protests were presumed to be one of the points as yet unsettled.

The various experts expressed confidence this afternoon that these protests, which were made by Emuge Moreau, chief French delegate, would be overcome without great difficulty.

The original plan would have started the payments next January, according to the allied proposal. The Germans asked that the plan be put into effect as of last April to save them the cost of carrying the higher payments of the Dawes plan further and September 1 was set as a tentative compromise date.

One other point which has caused difficulty but which the experts believed would be settled outside the conference concerned Belgium's demand that Germany repay gold seized in Belgium during the war. The controversy developed when Belgium claimed that more was due her because of deflation of the mark.

'Insurance Slayer' and Victim

Insured for $7,000 on a double indemnity policy taken out by Mrs. J. C. Powers, 65-year-old Macon landlady, and naming her as beneficiary, James Parks, 25 (left), was found shot to death early Tuesday morning on the banks of the Ocmulgee river in Macon. This picture was taken when Parks, an orphan, was graduated from the Baptist orphanage at Hapeville, where he learned his trade as printer. At the right is Earl Manchester, 21, also a roomer at the Powers boarding house, who confessed to the shooting of Parks after he was alleged to have been "hired" by Mrs. Powers and promised $1,000 when she "collected the insurance money," according to police. Mrs. Powers also confessed, according to police, but late Wednesday night repudiated her confession.

BOARDER ADMITS KILLING FORMER BAPTIST ORPHAN

WOMAN REPUDIATES DEATH PLOT STORY

Mrs. J. C. Powers Promised Him $1,000 From $14,000 Insurance Policy for Deed, Slayer Alleges.

Macon, Ga., May 29.—(AP)—While Mrs. J. C. Powers, 65-year-old rooming house proprietor, sat in her cell tonight and repudiated her confession that she "hired" Earl Manchester to kill James Parks, Manchester elaborated on his earlier story and told police the woman promised him $1,000 "to do the job."

The elderly landlady confessed during the day that she conspired with Manchester to kill Parks, a 25-year-old printer who roomed at her home, so she might collect a $14,000 insurance policy which named her as beneficiary.

Police, meanwhile, revealed that another man on whom Mrs. Powers held a policy for $5,000, disappeared some years ago while the insurance agent who wrote the policy was himself found shot to death, a slaying mystery which was never solved.

Detectives were also trying to link the woman with the burning of two residences four years ago, on both of which she carried fire insurance.

Parks was found shot to death on the banks of the Ocmulgee river early Tuesday morning. The $7,000 insurance policy, which contained a double indemnity clause for violent death, was taken out on his life by Mrs. Powers little more than a month ago.

Confers With Attorney.

Her repudiation came late tonight, after she had conferred with an attorney.

Manchester told officers that the woman had approached him in regard to the killing when he called at her home in answer to a newspaper advertisement for a chauffeur.

"There is $14,000 in it for me," he quoted the woman as telling him, "and I will give you $1,000 to do the job."

Manchester, a 21-year-old Rochester, Mich., youth, said he shot Parks twice with a pistol.

Meanwhile police were digging back into their records in an effort to connect the woman with the burning of two residences four years ago, on both of which she carried insurance.

They also had established that Mrs. Powers had obtained a $5,000 policy several years ago on the life of Claude P. Burham, who later disappeared. E. E. Valentine, the insurance agent who wrote the policy, was later found shot to death. The slay-

MYSTERIOUS BLAST UNDER RIVER TAKES TOLL OF SIX LIVES

Jersey City, N. J., May 29.—(United News.)—A mysterious explosion in a caisson under the Hackensack river tonight buried a crew of 18 workmen under a suffocating blanket of sand and mud.

Six of the men, known as "sand hogs," were known late tonight to be dead, three more were missing and nine went to hospitals suffering from injuries. Two of the injured may die.

The explosion, for which no cause could be found, blew the air lock from the top of the caisson and allowed the mud from the river bottom to come up into the compartment where the men were working.

NEW SOLO FLIGHT RECORD IS MADE

Herbert Fahy Is New Champion; Weather Bars Two Flights Across Atlantic Ocean.

Los Angeles, May 29.—(United News.)—With a new world record for solo endurance flying without refueling to his credit, Lieutenant Herbert J. Fahy landed his Lockheed-Vega monoplane at Los Angeles metropolitan airport at 5:39:41 p. m. tonight.

He had been in the air 36 hours, 56 minutes and 36 seconds.

Lieutenant Fahy used every drop of his fuel. As his gasoline drained lower and lower he circled high above the field. Finally his engine stopped entirely, and the flier made a perfect "dead stick" landing.

Lieutenant Fahy also passed the unofficial mark of Martin Jensen, 35 hours 33 minutes, which was not recognized because it fell 17 minutes short of the necessary one hour longer than the record of Royal Thomas.

PROPOSED FLIGHTS OVER SEA DELAYED.

Old Orchard, Maine, May 29.—(AP) Reports of cloudy weather and head winds over the Atlantic tonight caused the definite postponement of the proposed take-offs of two European-bound planes.

The two monoplanes, which were prevented by accidents which nearly proved serious from getting away today when reports were favorable, rested on the sands, repaired and ready for flight.

"In the face of this report, we can't take off," said Lewis A. Yancey, navigator of the Green Flash, Rome-bound after receiving the report from Dr. James W. Kimball of the weather bureau in New York.

Armeno Lotti, sponsor and co-pilot of the Yellow Bird, which will head for the French capital, had stated earlier he would not attempt the flight tomorrow.

BAR ASSOCIATION CONVENES TODAY

Georgia Lawyers To Meet in Annual Convention. Distinguished Guests Will Attend.

With prominent lawyers from all sections of the state in attendance and with several distinguished guests from other states, the Georgia State Bar Association will open its annual convention in Atlanta Thursday morning at the Biltmore hotel.

Two of the outstanding features of the session will be the delivery of the annual address by Congressman James M. Beck, of Peunsylvania, and the annual dinner to be given visitors at the Biltmore hotel Friday night. Reservations for the dinner should be made Thursday by all who desire to attend, it was announced by Logan E. Bleckley, secretary of the association.

Former Governor John M. Slaton, president of the association, Wednesday extended a general invitation to the public to be present when Congressman Beck delivers his address at the Friday morning session.

"This speech will not be of a technical nature, but will be an address that should be of interest to the general public," Governor Slaton said.

Governor Slaton will make the president's annual address Thursday immediately after organization and preliminary formalities of the convention. Governor Slaton will have the visiting lawyers as his guests at a barbecue dinner tomorrow afternoon, for which event more than 500 acceptances have already been received.

The association's annual dinner will be held Friday evening at the convention hotel, to be accompanied by a variety program of entertainment. Brief after-dinner speeches will be made by Congressman Beck and several leading members of the association.

Other entertainment features include a concert and dance at the convention hotel on Thursday and Friday evenings and several events being arranged especially for visiting lawyers' wives.

Papers will be presented during sessions by Justice S. Price Gilbert, of the Georgia supreme court; Judge W. F. Jenkins, of the court of appeals; E. Smythe Gambrell, of Atlanta, and Judge J. N. Talley, of Macon.

Officers and committees of the association will also make their annual reports.

COP LOSES 6 DAYS' PAY ALL BECAUSE LADY POWDERS FACE

New Orleans, May 29.—(AP)—Because Policeman Jules O. Reinhart, big and burly, let a woman powder his face with her little pink puff in a soft drink stand he was forced to forfeit six days' pay. If policemen must take up powdering and rouging, Police Superintendent Ray held, it must not be done in public places.

HOLDER PREPARES TO LEAVE BOARD

Litigation Will Have No Effect on Resignation; Highway Bids Returned After Injunction.

Injunction proceedings brought by Walton county officials restraining the state highway board from letting $4,000,000 in road contracts at its Wednesday meeting will not deter John N. Holder, chairman of the board, from carrying out his original intention of resigning June 4, he announced at his office Wednesday.

"No matter what is the outcome of the litigation, I shall resign as chairman of the highway board next Tuesday," Chairman Holder declared. "The board met Wednesday, but made no attempt to let any contracts. It was agreed that the contractors could withdraw all bids submitted and all that desired to re-submit bids could do so at the session of the board to be held at East Point Friday. The restraining order only referred to letting contracts and made no mention of the submission of bids. Just what action the board will take Friday I cannot, of course, predict. Personally, I intend to adhere to my original program. I shall sit with the board Friday and shall give the barbecue to employes Saturday, as planned and shall retire next Tuesday."

Chairman Holder did not go into any further details concerning his plans to retire other than to express

VETERANS' HOME BILL IS APPROVED

Joint Fletcher-Harris Measure Passes Senate; Location To Be Decided Later by Board.

Washington, May 29.—The senate today gave its approval to the joint Fletcher-Harris bill authorizing the federal government to establish a branch of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Veterans somewhere in the south. Both Georgia and Florida have been making active efforts to have the proposed branch institution located within their borders and separate bills on the subject were introduced by Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia, and Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of the neighboring state.

As passed today the bill contemplates an expenditure of approximately $2,000,000 which will be used in acquiring some 300 acres of ground and in constructing the necessary buildings. When completed it is proposed that the branch home will have accommodations for some 2,000 disabled former soldiers.

Selection of the site will be left to the board of managers of the national home, with headquarters at Dayton, Ohio. Passage of the bill must be effected in the lower house before the matter of a site can be considered.

Passage of the measure by the senate is the first move decided on here several weeks ago when leaders sponsoring location of the home in or near Atlanta met and conferred with Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia.

The Georgia senator advised that the bill be offered as passed Wednesday, and local leaders, headed by Judge Max Land and Alderman Ben T. Huiet, chairman of a soldiers' home committee appointed by Mayor Ragsdale, will begin at once a campaign designed to persuade the board of managers of the national home to locate the home here.

McCutcheon and Jacobs In Near Encounter as 'Lie' Is Hurled at Fiery Rally

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Fiery political addresses enlivened by a series of charges and counter-charges which fairly bristled with personalities Wednesday night reached a climax in a near-riot at a rally held at the Crew Street school, in the second ward.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward and chairman of the special city hall committee, hurled the charge of "liar" at Jake Jacobs, opposing W. Chester McLendon for the councilmanic post in the second, when Jacobs charged that McCutcheon was responsible for a circular letter sent to registered voters and which was said to have contained an attack on Jacobs.

Jumping to his feet as Jacobs launched the attack against him, McCutcheon yelled, "You'er a liar," and advanced menacingly upon the speaker. Friends of both deserted their seats, rushed toward the speakers' platform and prevented an actual clash.

Asks Right to Speak.

McCutcheon then demanded that he be given an opportunity to defend himself after Jacobs concluded his speech. His request was granted.

McClendon was the first of the councilmanic candidates to speak. He dealt largely with speeches previously made by Jacobs in an effort to discredit them. He declared that he would favor better schools, street improvements, and some "effective segregation program" if elected to city council.

"Mr. Jacobs has attacked members of general council in his address," McLendon said. "When he goes there, if he does, he will need the friendship of those whom he has abused. He can not effectively and efficiently serve the best interests of the ward because he can not gain the support of those whom he has attacked to get improvements which we need and must have."

Hits City Hall Site.

Jacobs opened his address with an attack on the location of the new $1,000,000 city hall. He exhibited a letter signed by Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of Fulton county commissioners, stating that the city never made or was given a concrete proposition for location of the new city hall adjacent to the Fulton county courthouse as was first planned.

"Mr. McCutcheon said he did not want me in city council because he could not control me and because I was 'too clever'," Mr. Jacobs declared.

McCutcheon arose and denied ever making such a statement, and when Jacobs called on Joe Friedman as a witness to prove his assertion Mr. Friedman failed to recall any such conversation.

"Why, don't you remember it? You were standing right there," Jacobs demanded.

"Because I never heard it," Friedman said.

When McCutcheon took the floor he declared that he has in his files a communication signed by Edwin Johnson saying that the city would have had to pay $386,000 for the property adjacent to the courthouse as a city hall site.

"Mr. Johnson was chairman of the Fulton county commissioners at the time we attempted to place the city hall adjacent to the courthouse, and not Mr. Etheridge," McCutcheon said. "Newspapers carried the story at the time, setting out the correct figure, $386,000. We did everything possible to acquire the tract at a reasonable figure. The price which the commission set was prohibitive."

Mr. Jacobs declared that if elected he would seek a park for the second ward, good streets, better sewers, schools and other improvements "which will make us proud of the ward and enhance property values."

W. Zode Smith spoke in behalf of his own candidacy for the post of general manager of the water works, and Ernest P. Titshaw, his opponent, was represented. Both were cordially received.

W. J. Weaver, candidate for alderman from the second, also spoke.

The auditorium at the school was not large enough to accommodate the large crowd which attended the meeting, and many stood in the aisles or crowded the doorways.

A mass meeting has been slated for 7:30 o'clock tonight at Gaskill and Tye streets in the third ward by friends of Councilman J. W. Rountree, candidate for reelection, who is opposed by Dr. Edwin Scott and E. N. Hendrix.

NORCROSS YOUTH HELD ON SUSPICION IN THEFT OF AUTO

Brean Johnson, 22, of Norcross, was arrested Wednesday night by Detectives Smith and McKibben at Butler and Cain streets, and is being held on a charge of suspicion in connection with the theft of an automobile belonging to O. K. Fellers, of 1660 Rogers avenue.

Johnson, according to detectives, stated that he had borrowed the car only a few minutes before from a friend, whose name he could not tell officers.

The car was parked by Fellers in a parking lot on East Cain street during the afternoon and was stolen shortly afterward, he reported to police.

Detectives Smith and McKibben were riding along Cain street near Butler when the coupe passed. The officers remembered the license number, quickly outdistanced the stolen car and arrested the driver.

Mrs. Joseph Milton Spinks and Miss Jimmie Stansell, of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, will be presented in graduating recital at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The exercises will be held at Ampico hall.

III—INTO THE AIR.

Having learned from Beeler just about all I could assimilate on the ground concerning the functions of the various controls, I was ready, at least from the standpoint of time, for the initial flight. I was armed with the knowledge that if I pushed the stick forward the plane would head in the general direction of the ground and that if I pulled it toward me the nose would rise and the plane climb; that movements of the stick from side influenced the ailerons, governing the lateral activities of the plane, and that the rudder, used in co-ordination with the stick, swung the nose of the plane around in making turns.

"Handle the stick as you would an eggshell," Beeler admonished, just before we were ready to take off. "If you grasp it as if it were something fragile and easily broken you'll never get a 'death-grip' on it and you'll have less difficulty in overcoming the student's natural tendency to 'over-control.'

"And whatever you do," he continued, "never forget that in the air you are in an environment of speed, that without proper speed an airplane can not fly and that if flying speed is lost close to the ground a crash is almost certain to follow."

Freeze-Breaker Lacking.

I climbed into the rear cock-pit and waited for Beeler, up front, to take off. My function was to sit there and do absolutely nothing except to follow Beeler in his manipulation of the controls. I felt extremely nervous—a natural sensation, I hope—but as I didn't see a monkey-wrench peeking out of Beeler's hip pocket or a sandbag hanging in his cockpit and I was encouraged by the thought that Beeler felt that I wouldn't "freeze" to the controls.

I attached the head-set—a one-way instrument which enables the student to hear his instructor clearly in the air but which gives him no opportunity to talk back—and we were off! Beeler wasted no time about taking to the air and climbing to about 1,500 feet and then came the big thrill with his verse, "Your ship."

With the stick and the rudder bar mine, for the nonce, I sat there for a moment, doing nothing and unable to think of anything useful to do. Then along came a sharp gust of wind and I found out what the stick was for. The left wing dropped about 15 degrees and while I pushed the stick over to the right in the most approved fashion I inadvertently allowed it to go slightly forward. The ever-sensitive elevators, grasping this opportunity with their usual avidity, lost no time in starting the plane downhill at an alarming—to me—and ever-increasing rate of speed. I yanked the stick back, accidentally let the right wing drop and in righting it repeated the disconcerting process outlined above.

Over-Controlling.

I was obviously over-controlling—my corrective movements of the stick were too hurried and too harsh. And then I noticed that I was tense and rigid and sitting bolt upright. I didn't have the well known "death grip" on the stick but I was in the proper condition of nerves to "freeze" and I forced myself to relax and to loll back in the seat.

From that point on, my confidence in myself, if not my actual air work, improved steadily and before we landed I was able to fly a fairly straight course without undue pitching and swerving. The first 15 minutes at the stick seems more like 15 hours and when we reached the ground again I had had a plenty as a starter.

The next installment, to appear Monday, will relate the finishing touches on straight-away flying and the beginning of work on turns.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED NEAR ALAMO, TENN.

Alamo, Tenn., May 29.—(AP)—After storming two jails to avenge an attack on a white woman, a mob succeeded early today in getting possession of Joe Boxley, 19-year-old negro, who was found a few hours later hanging from a tree limb four miles east of Alamo.

Despite an injunction written on a placard placed beside the body that the negro was to "hang here until 4 p. m., Thursday," the body was removed today by the county coroner and turned over to Boxley's relatives for burial.

The woman, who was attacked and choked into unconsciousness at her home near Alamo, was reported this afternoon still in a serious condition.

Boxley was arrested late yesterday at Trenton in an adjoining county, was spirited to the jail here late last night when a mob of about 2,000 men stormed the Trenton jail and demanded the negro. Not finding him when they forced entrance to the Trenton prison, members of the mob moved to Alamo, forced Carl Emison, Crockett county sheriff, to open the door of his home and after finding the keys to the jail under a divan where the sheriff had hidden them in an effort to outwit the mob, unlocked the jail, took possession of Boxley and led him away with a rope about his neck. His body was found later hanging to a tree.

Despite Wednesday's fine weather, only one visiting plane was checked in at the airport. Paul Roberts, of Whittier, Cal., flying a Travel Air monoplane powered with a Wright J-6, 300-horsepower motor, hesitated on his way from the coast to Florida.

Garvis Holliman, for some time a student in Doug Davis' flying school, now the T. A. T. Flying Schools, Inc., Wednesday successfully passed his examination for a private license, performing satisfactorily before Murray Hall, of the department of commerce, at Candler field.

With last minute details being completed, the great ten-passenger and two-pilot Sikorsky amphibian, flagship of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires Line, Inc., which was christened the Washington last week in the national capital by Mrs. William P. McCracken, wife of the assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, will hop off the latter part of this week on an 8,500-mile flight to Buenos Aires, Argentine, over the route of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires Line. This air transport service, the longest in the world, holds an exclusive air mail contract with the Argentine government, and has been characterized by that country as "the initiator of air mail service" between North and South America. Regular service on this line will begin in the fall of this year.

Passenger service over the first section of the 2,000-mile Miami-Panama Canal Zone air line, which has been operated on perfect air-mail schedules for nearly four months, will be inaugurated on June 3 between Cristobal, the Canal Zone terminal, and David, Republic of Panama, it was announced Wednesday by J. T. Trippe, president and general manager of Pan-American Airways, Inc. The opening of this service, together with the thrice-daily passenger schedule which Pan-American Airways recently put into operation across the isthmus, provides complete air transport service between the three principal cities in Panama. The air passenger route from Cristobal to David will cover a distance in two hours that requires at best a week by infrequent steamers, and where there is no regular surface transportation of any kind.

NORRIS TO CONTINUE SHOALS BILL FIGHT

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—By a unanimous vote of the 13 members present, the senate agriculture committee today recommended to the senate the re-enactment of the Norris resolution for government operation of the Muscle Shoals property in Alabama.

The report on this resolution was carried immediately to the senate by its author, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who said he did not believe the legislation could be enacted before the summer recess but that he would take advantage of any opportunity to have this done.

One of the committee members, Senator Walcott, republican, Connecticut, gave his approval to the resolution after receiving consent to file a personal report giving a different conclusion on some provisions of the proposal.

The resolution is identical to that passed by congress last year and given a pocket veto by former President Coolidge, except for a section providing compensation to the states of Alabama and Tennessee in lieu of taxes they would receive were the property operated by private individuals. The measure contemplates the construction of a $10,000,000 dam at Cove creek and would provide for experimentation in and production of fertilizer and nitrates under the direction of a three-man board appointed by the president.

States, cities and municipalities and other power distributing agencies not organized for profit would have the first call upon any surplus electrical energy generated at the property.

Senator Norris said if a third dam were built between the Wilson and proposed Cove Creek dams, the Tennessee river would be completely navigable and the dams would provide flood control works which would alleviate a great deal of pressure from the Mississippi river.

MEASURE IS PASSED FOR REAPPORTIONMENT

BY RAYMOND Z. HENLE.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Automatic reapportionment of the house of representatives on the basis of a census taken every ten years would be provided in a bill passed by the senate today, 57 to 26, and sent to the house.

A similar proposal which has stirred up nearly ten years of controversy between states likely to lose and those which would gain representation, was approved by the house last session and final enactment of the present measure has been decided upon before the summer recess.

In addition to an enumeration of persons living in the United States the census would embrace a survey of unemployment. It would be taken in November, 1929, by enumerators and experts employed under civil service regulations.

The bill, which had administration approval, would direct the president to submit to congress next December two sets of computations showing the number of representatives each state would be entitled to upon the basis of the new census, under both the system known as equal proportions and that known as major fractions. If congress failed to enact a reapportionment bill by the end of the then current session, the major fractions computation of the president would become effective.

Outlines Effect.

The prospective effects of the reapportionment as outlined in a speech by Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, one of the sponsors of the measure, would be to take representation from 17 states and give additional representatives to 11. Twenty would be unaffected.

Those states which stand to gain and the additional number of representatives they would be given upon the basis of present estimates are: California, 6; Michigan, 4; Ohio, 3; New Jersey and Texas, 2; Arizona, Connecticut, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma, and Washington state, 1 each.

States losing representatives would be: Missouri, 3; Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky and Mississippi, 2 each; Alabama, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Vermont and Virginia, 1 each.

The forthcoming census, however, may show a material shift in population which would change these estimates.

CUT ON FINGER PROVES FATAL TO BOY AT GRADY

John H. Christy, 4, son of Mrs. J. H. Christy, of 1001 West View drive, died late Wednesday night at Grady hospital following an illness of more than three months.

The youth was taken to the hospital suffering from a cut on his finger. Doctors at the hospital used every method known to stop the flow of blood, but failed, as the child was found to be a victim of hemophilia, an incurable condition of the blood.

A number of transfusions were made in a vain effort to save the child's life.

DEMOCRATIC DEFICIT CUT TO $350,000

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The $1,500,000 deficit of the democratic national committee, which resulted from last year's presidential campaign, has been reduced to about $350,000, it was learned today after a conference on party plans in the office of John J. Raskob, national chairman.

The conference was attended by Jouett Shouse, of Kansas, recently named chairman of the executive committee with headquarters in Washington; former Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, of Rhode Island, and Parker Corning, of Albany.

Although Chairman Raskob's only statement that it was "merely an informal conference about routine organization matters, it was learned later that the conference decided to proceed with plans for rehabilitation of the party on the theory that sufficient funds would be available.

The reduction of the deficit by more than $1,000,000 was attributed to Raskob's calling upon each guarantor on a list made up during the closing days of the campaign to make good the amount of his guaranty. The largest contributors to the fund to reduce the deficit were said to have been Mr. Raskob, William F. Kenny and Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of New York, each of whom was said to have given $150,000 in addition to previous contributions.

NO RELIEF SEEN FROM HOT WAVE ON EAST COAST

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—No relief from the heat and humidity for the eastern half of the United States for Memorial Day is held out by the weather bureau. The forecast indicated that the unseasonable warmth would continue throughout tomorrow, augmented by sunshine, although there is a prospect of showers in the middle Atlantic states.

ROTARIANS NOMINATE OFFICE CANDIDATES

Annual Ball Enjoyed After Brief Business Session of Body.

Dallas, Texas, May 29.—(AP)—Ten thousand Rotarians, gathered here for the twentieth annual international convention of the organization, today nominated candidates for office and then enjoyed the annual president's ball.

Little competition for office developed and the chief fight appeared to be for the presidency, the supporters of Raymond J. Knoeppel, of New York, matching every claim made by those pushing Eugene Newsom, of Durham, N. C. When the names were put in nomination the applause was about equal, and a close vote was expected. The result will be announced Friday.

Eight candidates were nominated for the five places which the United States has on the board of directors. The candidates include Claybrook Cottingham, Alexandria, La., and David Clark, of Charlotte, N. C.

The 12 district governors, selected by their districts, were approved by the convention without comment, and Rufus F. Chapin, of Chicago, was renominated for treasurer without opposition.

Memphis delegates were vociferous all day long, concluding every piece of business before the convention with cries of "Take the next convention to Memphis."

The Tennessee delegation, reinforced by a big band, is making the only serious campaign for the convention. San Sebastain, Spain, is said to have invited the Rotarians to meet there next year, but no campaign is being made for the Spanish city.

The presidential ball was held in the huge automobile and manufacturers building at the state fair grounds.

"Test it for taste"

With any other bread

Buy two loaves of bread—one Merita and one of another kind—notice the difference in appearance, now slice them, see how much better Merita slices, and when you come to the "taste test" you will notice a marked superiority in the palatability of Merita over other bread.

We ask that you make this test because we know what the result will be. You will prefer Merita because in order to obtain that rich, nut-like flavor, the flour, milk, shortening, sugar, malt, yeast and salt are all laboratory tested before the bread is mixed, and the baking process is handled by Master Bakers of skilled experience.

That is also the reason Merita Bread is so high in nutritive value. If it looks better, slices better and tastes better, you are sure of ample nutrition . . . make the taste test and see for yourself.

Georgia Leaders Invited To All-States Conference On Agriculture Problems

Governor Hardman and Others Asked To Attend Chamber of Agriculture Session.

Washington, May 29.—(By Staff Correspondent.) — Invitations have been sent out to Governor L. G. Hardman and a number of leaders prominently identified with agricultural pursuits in Georgia to attend an all-states conference on agriculture in Washington June 11 and 12. The conference will be held under auspices of the American Chamber of Agriculture, organized in Atlanta last January and now maintaining national headquarters here.

According to an announcement today by William C. Chase, executive vice president of the organization, more than a thousand prominent farm leaders have been invited to attend the Washington conference, including governors of the various farm states, commissioners of agriculture and others interested in the industry.

In a formal statement today the purpose of the meeting was set forth as follows:

1. Discussing matters of major importance to the farming interests of the United States; economically and socially.

2. Conferring with representatives, senators and congressmen (should congress be in session) upon farm relief and tariff.

3. Tendering the president co-operation and support of legislation by congress; and rendering the president such other services, in the way of aiding in the selection of personnel of the proposed farm board, should the president request such aid.

4. Arrange for the canvassing of farmers—men of established qualifications, eligible to serve on commodity marketing boards, co-operative marketing associations, and such other provisional safeguardings of and for the welfare and general betterment of farming and farm life affairs, as the conference may find necessary.

5. To arrange for a nation-wide rally of farmers at Washington or Chicago next November; the object of such rally being to bring about greater contact, more intimate relations, harmony and sympathetic co-operation among the farmers of United States and all matters affecting their interests socially and economically; encouraging rural-urban unity, etc.

6. To complete the nationalization of the American Chamber of Agriculture.

HARRIS WILL ADDRESS FORESTRY MEETING

Washington, May 29.—(By Staff Correspondent.)—Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, left for Brunswick today to address a meeting of the Georgia Forestry Association Thursday. He plans to return to Washington Friday, remaining away from the capital only over the national holiday.

The senator has been working to get the federal government to take over the Okefenokee swamp as a game preserve, and as a member of the national forest reservation commission is anxious for the commission to acquire two or three units of about one hundred thousand acres in south Georgia for experimental and research work in the naval stores industry and the reforestation of the cut-over pine lands in Georgia.

The forest reservation commission has already purchased several hundred thousand acres in the north Georgia mountain counties, but the legislative act granting permission to the federal government to acquire this property was limited to north Georgia counties.

It will take a special act of the Georgia legislature granting permission to the federal government to acquire the Okefenokee swamp and other lands in south Georgia.

Senator Harris hopes that the Georgia Forest Association at its Brunswick meeting may recommend that the legislature pass this act so as to enable him to secure an appropriation for this purpose.

CROP SHORTAGE TOPIC OF PECAN GROWERS

Waycross, Ga., May 29.—(AP)—Discussions centering around the question of cold storage for their crop and marketing problems occupied members of the Georgia-Florida Pecan Growers' Association during the opening sessions of their twenty-third annual convention here today.

Stressing the idea that unless low prices made it unfeasible, every effort should be made to sell pecans during the same season they are harvested, speakers pointed out that if a slump in the market made it necessary, the nuts could be placed in cold storage.

Growers were warned not to pack pecans in barrels or sacks if they are to be stored. Small containers should be used, it was said. The nuts "break down" if they are stored late, it was stated, and growers were advised to place them in cold storage before February 15.

Only well filled nuts should be carried over, according to the speakers, and upon removal from storage they should be spread out for several hours prior to final packing for shipment.

President C. A. Newcomer, of Fitzgerald, Ga., told the delegates that co-operative marketing had aided in solving the growers' pecan problems, but added that "lack of advertising is the weakest part of the pecan selling game."

The growers were served an open air dinner at Rest Haven, country estate of A. C. Snedeker, south Georgia orchardist and nurseryman. Waycross civic clubs joined in making the dinner a success.

Kress Relents, Gives Blessing To Runaway Pair

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The New York American said today that although at first he felt like taking his 21-year-old son-in-law "out in the woodshed," Rush H. Kress, wealthy chain store owner, has given his approval of the runaway marriage of his 17-year-old daughter and Charles L. Abry, Jr., $30-a-week broker's clerk.

The couple eloped two weeks ago to Bellair, Md., when Abry was a second year student at Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Va. His home is at Ramsay, N. J.

The father's approval was gained when the bride, Silvia Adelaide Kress, announced her determination to live on her husband's income after her graduation June 4 from a select girls' school at Ossining. Abry meanwhile will room with a former schoolmate in Brooklyn.

Mr. Kress, who is vice president of S. H. Kress, Inc., in discussing the marriage said:

"When I found that this young man, whom I scarcely knew, was my son-in-law, I felt just like being a real father to him and taking him out to the woodshed. But, you know, he is a fine boy. I'm just getting acquainted with him. I like his mettle."

The couple became acquainted last September when Miss Kress was bridesmaid at a wedding at which Abry was an usher. Last Easter he and a college chum were guests at the Kress home at Ossining. The couple elopted May 13. Mr. Kress, informed of the impending marriage in a note, made an unsuccessful attempt to head the couple off.

PAIR OF NEGROES HELD ON SUSPICION IN STORE ROBBERY

Two negroes, Oliver Perry, of 222 Mangham street, and Robert Thomas, of 53 Griffin street, Wednesday night were being held on charges of suspicion in connection with the recent burglary of Bressler's Department store, at 289 Peters street. They were arrested by Detectives Cowan and Gillespie. Berry was arrested at his home, where a large quantity of merchandise alleged to have been taken from the store was found and later identified by its owners. Thomas was arrested in front of police station.

TENNESSEE TAKES STEPS TO PREVENT HOSPITAL BLAZE

Nashville, Tenn., May 29.—(AP)—Inspectors authorized by the state fire marshal are investigating hospitals in this and other counties of Tennessee with a view of preventing a similar disaster as that which occurred at Cleveland, Ohio, when more than 100 persons lost their lives. The state fire marshal will insist that when nitrocellulose X-ray films are used that they be stored in separate buildings, especially constructed for the purpose. Slow burning films, it was stated, may be cared for in some other manner. Regulations will be issued under the fire prevention law when the inspectors complete their survey.

DOUGH, SPEEDER SAYS TO COP, WAS NOT BRIBE ATTEMPT

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—"I says to him," said Officer E. La Fontaine, "I says, 'You're speeding.' And then he says something about 'a lot of dough' and I says, 'you can't bribe me.' So I runs him in, your honor."

Judge Herbert Immelhausen peered severely down upon the prisoner, one George Eales.

"What have you to say for yourself?" the court asked.

"I did say something about a lot of dough, sure," said Eales, "but it wasn't a bribe. When I mean money I say money. When I mean dough I say dough."

"And the two are not synonimous, then?" asked the court.

"Far be they from such," said the prisoner. "What I was trying to convey to this policeman was that I was in a hurry to get to work, because there was a lot of dough rising, and if I didn't get there in time it would spoil."

"Then you are a—" began Judge Immelhausen.

"Yes, sir," said Eales. "I am a baker, and when I say dough I mean dough. The dough was rising."

"Very well," said the court, "see if you can raise $1 fine and $1 costs."

INSTRUCTION COURSE FOR POLICE PROPOSED

Establishment of an instruction course for members of the Atlanta police department Wednesday night was recommended by Chief James L. Beavers at the semi-monthly meeting of the police committee of city council at police station. The chief recommended that work be started on the plan as soon as possible and that competent instructors be engaged.

His recommendation met with favor of members of the committee, and Chief Beavers was instructed to work out plans for the school and submit his findings at an early meeting of the committee, in order that the recommendations may be presented to the general council for early approval.

Chief Beavers also recommended to the committee that Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant, whose investigation squad includes Patrolmen C. W. Crankshaw, R. C. McGill and Harmon and Foster, be commended for their recent excellent work in tracing the activities of a safeblowing gang and other criminals in Atlanta. It also was recommended by the chief that the men be given five days extra on their vacation for their work and his request was granted by the committee.

Aid of Federal Reserve Bank To South Promised by Black In Talk Before Financiers

No Notice To Be Taken of Speculative Situation, Governor Says—Session Closes Today.

The Atlanta Federal Reserve bank is not concerned with the national speculative situation and its credit will continue to be used for the purposes for which it was intended—the fostering of progress along all lines in the sixth federal reserve district.

This was the declaration of Eugene R. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, in his address of welcome before the joint session of the Country Bankers' Association of Georgia and the Georgia Bankers' Association at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday, when were heard the annual report of President W. C. Vereen and addresses by B. W. Crouch, president of the Farmers bank, of Saluda, S. C., and by C. H. MacDowell, president of the Armour Fertilizer Works, Chicago.

The election of several officers in Georgia of the American Bankers' Association concluded the morning session, following which all delegates were guests at a business luncheon when four brief talks were given on "What Has Been Accomplished" and "What Remains to Be Accomplished."

"Ten-Point Plan."

It was practically the unanimous opinion of this gathering that the "ten-point plan" of the Georgia Bankers' Association has done more to assist the small bankers of the state than any other movement and Haynes McFadden, secretary of the state association, was praised for his work in urging the adoption of the plan.

The ten points, briefly, are as follows: Service charges on small accounts, for checks drawn against insufficient funds, on overdue notes, for overprinting checks and on small loans figuring less than $1 discount; exchange on out-of-town checks cashed by non-customers, fee for cashiers' checks; limitation of interest on time and savings deposits; requiring statements of assets and liabilities on all loans in excess of $500, and the establishment of credit unions for interchange of information between banks to eliminate duplicate and multiple loans.

L. H. Langford, cashier of the Bank of Meansville; F. H. Brannan, cashier of the Peoples National bank, of Quitman; J. H. Curtis, cashier of the State Banking Company, of Gainesville, and R. E. Gormley, cashier of the Georgia Bank and Trust Company, of Cuthbert, were speakers at the luncheon meeting and all agreed that adoption of all or part of these 10 points had proved of great benefit to their respective banks and expressed the opinion that further benefit might be obtained if all country banks in the state could be persuaded to adopt them.

Strict Loan Handling.

Organization and co-operation of small banks together with a stricter method of handling loans was set forth as the one method by which the lot of country bankers could be improved.

J. Harmon Williams, vice president and cashier of the Winder National bank, was re-elected state vice president.

Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank, Atlanta, was elected Georgia member of the nominating committee, with H. Lane Young, executive manager of the Citizens and Southern National bank, Atlanta, as alternate.

Division vice presidents were elected as follows: Walter S. Cothran, of Rome, national bank division; E. J. Perry, of Bainbridge, savings bank division; J. E. Hall, of Soperton, state bank division, and J. G. Cornell, of Savannah, trust company division.

Mergers Called Unwise.

The two conventions of Georgia bankers in joint session Wednesday were told that further bank mergers in Georgia would be unwise at present, and that country bankers were financial evangelists and father confessors in one.

President W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, of the Georgia Bankers' Association, declared that only the future could tell whether mergers would be necessary and advantageous both to bankers and patrons.

"So far as Georgia is concerned," he said, "it appears best, for the present at least, that we should strive to hold intact what we have already acquired, clinching the nails we have already driven in before attempting to start others."

President Vereen recommended diversified farming with live stock raising in the foreground, and suggested establishment by law of a cotton delivery point in Georgia. He advocated a hands-off policy regarding taxation at present.

Speech by MacDowell.

C. H. MacDowell, of Chicago, advised the bankers to preach a "scientific farm gospel," and thereby pitch the whole tone of the community.

He said education was the crux of the problem, quoting United States department of agriculture figures showing that education of farmers added greatly to their income. He suggested that the bankers' finance a short course scholarship and teach farmers how to use a budget and make progress.

In an address, "Putting Country Banks on a Profitable Basis," B. W. Crouch, president of the Farmers' bank, Saluda, S. C., declared that country bankers brought many of their troubles on themselves in the rush for customers when cotton sold for 40 cents.

"Frozen assets since," he said, "have frozen the hearts of many bankers. Bring your community back to a sense of responsibility for its debts. Make times like they were 20 years ago, at least in respect to promissory notes. Then it was considered a disgrace by the average citizen if his note was not honored at the bank. Nowadays people seem to take a poor credit standing as a matter of course."

Opening Session.

President Vereen called the morning joint session to order at 10 a. m. and the Rev. N. R. H. Moor gave the invocation. Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta, welcomed the delegates and B. F. Cheek, president of the Farmers' bank of Canon, responded. Appointment of resolutions and auditing committees preceded the president's address. Then was heard a message from R. L. McClain, president of the country bankers.

A dinner dance was given for the bankers at East Lake Country Club. Golf and baseball games were on the afternoon programs.

The convention will end with a final business session starting at 10 o'clock this morning at the Biltmore, with President Vereen presiding. In addition to the election of officers for the ensuing year the meeting will be featured by the report of the ways and means committee on plans for the extension of county organizations and addresses by Dr. Burdette G. Lewis, of Green Cove Springs, Fla.; Orville A. Park, general counsel of the Georgia Bankers' Association, and Ronald Ransom, vice president of the Fulton National bank and president of the Atlanta Clearing House Association.

HOOVER ASKED TO AID IN FLY COMPENSATION

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The menace to the national fruit and vegetable industries of the Mediterranean fruit fly, which is infesting certain areas in Florida was brought to the attention of President Hoover today and later was the subject of a conference between Florida and California house delegations.

A delegation headed by Senators Fletcher and Trammell, of Florida, called at the White House to ask support of the Fletcher resolution now before the senate to make available $10,000,000 to compensate fruit growers for crops destroyed in the fight against the pest, in states were restricted regulations against the fly are in effect.

After the conference between the Florida and California delegations Chairman Haugen, of the house agriculture committee, was urged to hold hearings on the resolution to provide compensation.

Haugen said he would confer with Secretary Hyde and also with other members of the committee before scheduling such hearings. He added that he was in sympathy with the efforts of Florida to rid the country of the pest, as well as with other sections threatened by it.

Calls Hearing.

Meanwhile Secretary Hyde has called a public hearing for June 1 to discuss the advisability of quarantining "each and every state in the United States" because of the possible spread of the pest. No further restrictions of major importance are contemplated for Florida, where for nearly two months federal and state authorities have been using drastic methods to eradicate the pest and control its spread.

The law allowing the department of agriculture to place restrictions on interstate shipments of produce from areas known to be infested with a pest of any nature requires that public hearings be held before such restrictions are promulgated. After the public hearings on June 1 the department will be able to place restrictions on any area where an outbreak of the fly is discovered without the delay of calling a public hearing to discuss the matter with authorities in that area.

Confer With Hyde.

Chairman Haugen, of the house agriculture committee, informed the Florida delegation that he would confer with Secretary Hyde and other members of his committee before he decided on the necessity of hearings on the Fletcher-Drane resolution. He said that he was sympathetic to the problem, not only in Florida, but in other states where fruit and vegetables are the principal products.

At the joint meeting between the two delegations a plan was presented whereby the federal government would reimburse growers for half of their losses under the quarantine regulations.

The exercises were opened with an invocation by Dr. J. Russell Mitchell. Dr. Irwin Townsend Hyatt, of Atlanta, delivered the valedictory address.

Dr. Sheppard W. Foster, president of the college and president of the honor dental fraternity, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, presented the emblem of the fraternity, the gold key, to the following 12 men, who had the highest general average of their class: Irwin Townsend Hyatt, Georgia; Goode Woodwin Farrior, Florida; Tip Houston Mizell, Alabama; Fred Oscar Conrad, North Carolina; Louis Giles Horn, Jr., North Carolina; Wade Hampton Breeland, Jr., South Carolina; Robert Phillip Melvin, North Carolina; John Holbrook Peterson, Georgia; Travis Chappell, South Carolina; Walter James Wyrick, Arkansas; Marvin Lanness Llewellyn, North Carolina; William Weichselbaum, Jr., Georgia.

Dr. Ralph R. Byrnes, executive dean of the college, was master of ceremonies, and introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools.

In his annual report Dr. Thomas P. Hinman, the dean, said: "At the close of this, the twelfth year's work of the Atlanta-Southern Dental college, it is the privilege of the faculty to report a very satisfactory condition of the institution. This completes the third session of operation under the advanced entrance requirements, which stipulate in addition to the completion of a standard four-year high school course, one year of pre-dental, standard college work. Since our first enrollment under these requirements in 1926-27 the increase of first-year students in our school has been such as to warrant much gratification."

Man Dies in Auto Crash in Front Of His Home

Waycross, Ga., May 29.—(Special.) William A. Bladen, Hebardville, was almost instantly killed when his automobile turned over and was wrecked near his home two miles from Waycross late last night. Mr. Bladen was returning home from his work, which had kept him out to a late hour, according to members of his family, when a crash was heard. Reaching him a few moments after the crash, his wife and children found him struggling for life, and a few moments later he died.

The theory that Mr. Bladen's car was struck by another automobile was not supported by investigations conducted by Ware county authorities, it was stated from the office of Sheriff L. C. Warren today. It is the belief of officers that Mr. Bladen, who some years ago suffered the loss of one of his hands, lost control of his car and turned over. It is thought that the speed at which he was traveling propelled him in the ditch. The car, a light delivery truck, was badly damaged.

Mr. Bladen suffered a crushed skull and serious internal injuries. The deceased is survived by his widow and five children, Ruth and Thelma Bladen, and Cecil, Carl and Rosser Bladen, all of Hebardville; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bladen, and several brothers and sisters. Funeral services will be held at Kettle Creek church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The Rev. Simpson, of Hebardville, will officiate. Interment will be at Kettle Creek church.

55 G. M. A. GRADUATES HEAR ROBERT H. JONES

Atlanta Attorney Is Principal Speaker at College Park Exercises.

Urging a continuance through life of their school-taught idealism, Robert H. Jones, Jr., Princeton graduate and head of the Atlanta chapter of his university's alumni association, Wednesday addressed the largest commencement body in the history of the Georgia Military academy. The address was made in the auditorium-armory of the school to a senior class composed of 55 students.

The speaker especially commended the cadets for having placed the school five times in succession as one of only 14 schools in the country designated as a "distinguished" institution by the United States war department. He also stressed the fact that education is the means of getting at the valuation of information.

John T. Boifeuillet made a presentation of a great eagle to the school. The Hearst newspaper trophy for expert rifle shooting was presented to the school by a representative of the organization, Georgia Military academy having won second place in the contests of the Fourth corps area.

Russell West, of Atlanta, was presented with the school's first honor medal. He also delivered his class valedictory address.

Cadet Pittman was given the medal for the highest general excellence for the year. Cadet Beers was honored as the cadet of highest moral standing. Four students were honored by being privileged to write their names on the "White Page" of the school because of no demerits or reports against them during their entire stay at the academy. They were Cadets Mount, West, Garrison and Pace.

Cadets Garrison, Evans, Stark and Eanes were announced as appointees to Annapolis and West Point. More than 40 cadets were presented with gold eagles for perfect military and academic records during the year.

BIRTHDAY OF DAVIS TO DELAY MEETING OF PRISON BOARD

The state prison commission announced Wednesday that its session scheduled for next Monday has been postponed until Tuesday in accordance with a proclamation issued by the governor closing the capitol on Monday in observance of the birthday anniversary of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate states.

This announcement was made so that lawyers of the state interested in cases on the commission's docket will come to Atlanta Tuesday instead of Monday.

Other offices at the state capitol will be closed in observance of the holiday.

STRAY PUPS WILL GET SOCIAL RANK IN CHICAGO POUND

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Lake Forest has become doggy, no end. On advice of the suburb's police chief the dog pound hereafter will segregate the animals in accordance with their social status.

"They will be graded just like cattle," said Chief Lester Tiffany. "Pedigreed dogs in one class, "Mutts" in another."

Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, a leader in the movement to provide better homes for stray dogs, doesn't think much of the idea, and neither does Mrs. William Swift, Jr., another society woman who has taken an active interest in the establishment of dog refuges.

"It isn't fair," Mrs. McLaughlin said. "Pedigreed dogs should have no more consideration than the others."

Mrs. Swift said: "Lake Forest should not distinguish itself by being snobbish to dogs." She characterized the proposal as "a typical Lake Forest trick."

FLIGHT SAFETY GREAT PROBLEM NOW IN AVIATION

St. Louis, May 29.—(AP)—Personal safety in flight has become the principal problem in aviation in the opinion of Lieutenant James Doolittle, noted pilot with the Guggenheim Foundation, New York city, which was given to the third national aeronautic meeting here today. He added "much has been done, but there remains much yet to be done."

More and better airports, airways studded with emergency landing fields, power plant reliability and low landing speeds were among the essentials listed by Doolittle for lessening personal peril. He would also have the manufacturer construct the craft so that it "crashes well."

Atlanta University Will Open Commencement With 'Open House' Today

"Open house" to the general public from 9 until 11 o'clock today will mark the beginning of the sixtieth annual commencement exercises of Atlanta university.

The dramatic club will present the "Merchant of Venice" at 8 o'clock Friday night. President Adams will preach the baccalaureate sermon Sunday at 11 o'clock.

A reception will be given by the president Monday afternoon, followed by closing exercises of the Knowles High school Tuesday morning.

Dr. J. Sprole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the principal address at the commencement exercises at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

HELD ON DRUG CHARGE

Two Under $1,000 Bonds for Narcotic Violations.

J. C. Castello, alias Red Morris, and Emmett Clements, were placed under bond of $1,000 each on charges of violating the narcotic act by selling morphine, following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Griffith Wednesday.

The defendants were among the 13 arrested in a week-end drive by local narcotic agents which had been carefully planned over a long period. They were the fifth and sixth, respectively, to be given hearings before the commissioner. The remainder will be brought up during the balance of the week, it is stated.

FIRST WARD ABOLITION IS PROPOSED BY WELLS

Eighth Ward Councilman Would Add Territory to Fifth, Sixth and Seventh.

Abolition of the first ward and redistribution of the ward lines so that the territory would be annexed to the fifth, sixth and seventh wards, will be proposed at the next meeting of city council, it was announced Wednesday by Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward.

The move is said to be a forerunner of another attempt to establish a new ward by dividing the ninth into two wards. If the first ward is abolished and the territory absorbed, the additional ward could be established without creating another ward, proponents of the measure declare.

"There are only about 80 registered voters in the first ward," Mr. Wells declared Wednesday. "I propose to abolish it and to divide the territory between the fifth, sixth and seventh wards. Members of city council who now are serving terms or who are elected prior to the abolition would serve in their respective posts from the city at large until their terms expire under my plan."

If the paper is offered, it will be referred to the charter revision committee for consideration, it was said inasmuch as it would require a charter amendment to enact its provisions.

NEGRO IS HUNTED AFTER $43 ROBBERY FROM CASH DRAWER

Efforts to track down the negro robber who escaped with $43, snatched from the cash draw of the Wormser Hat store at 63 Peachtree street, about noon Wednesday, while the clerk was busy with a customer, were being made by police, who were furnished with a complete discription of the bandit.

H. P. Kersy, of 100 Fifth street, a clerk in the store, told Call Officers Jones and Melton that he was selling a customer a cap and turned toward the front of the store in time to see the negro run from behind the counter with the money in his hand. The thief fled down Auburn avenue, witnesses stated.

FILING OF MOTION FOR RETRIAL STAYS EXECUTION OF FAIR

The formal filing of a motion for a new trial for Fred D. Fair, condemned slayer of Patrolman J. E. McDaniel, before Superior Court Judge G. H. Howard Wednesday automatically stayed the death sentence over Fair, who was under sentence to be executed in the electric chair at the state prison farm at Milledgeville July 5.

Judge Howard set the hearing on the motion for July 23. The motion was filed by Len B. Guillebeau, chief of Fair's counsel.

MIDNIGHT SHOW "ALIBI," CROOK FILM, FOR POLICE FUND

The policeman gets a "break" in "Alibi," all-talking thriller that opens at Keith's Georgia with a midnight performance Sunday under the auspices of the Atlanta police force, with the receipts to go to police charity funds.

After many underworld dramas in which the crook and the gangster was made, if not actually the hero, at least the central figure, and a certain glamour was imparted to him and his lawlessness, "Alibi" tends to strip the thugs of this glitter and paint them as they are. In discussing his masterpiece, Roland West, producer of melodramas, says: "The modern criminal is a rank coward. Such gangsters as figure in 'Alibi' run in packs and would rather shoot their victims in the back than face them. I have often wondered why people allow themselves to wax sentimental over criminals and are so unwilling to give policemen the credit that they so often deserve for their cleverness, bravery and honor in their unceasing battle against the criminal class."

Seats for the midnight opening of this different sort of crook picture are going rapidly, according to Captain G. C. Fain and Lieutenant O. R. Jones, who are in charge of the ticket sales for the police. As only the capacity of the house will be sold, these officers urge that everyone see his favorite policeman and purchase a ticket.

THE HIGHWAYS LITIGATION.

The litigation begun to determine the right of the state highway board to let certain proposed road construction contracts is not a proper subject for specific comment pending hearing by the courts. What can be properly said of it is that it opens the door for a full and illuminating exposition of the follies of the highway legislation under which the board has been carrying on its patchwork road policy.

It will be exceedingly profitable to popular information to have a complete exposition in open court of the vagaries of our public roads legislation and the terms of it which have compelled the political distribution of road work all over the state in short lengths that have gotten nobody anywhere!

The only two border-to-border paved roads in Georgia run catawampus across the southeastern section—one of them built by the enterprise of a special self-bonded district and the other made practically compulsory from Augusta to the Florida line by federal aid requisitions. The state law which commands the distribution of highway funds and construction by congressional districts has caused the waste of the funds and prevented the economic and businesslike building of connected trunk lines of paved roads across the state.

The course of the suit begun by the Walton county board of roads and revenues should make plain to the mud-imbedded people of the state that under the present highway law they cannot hope ever to have a complete and constantly maintained statewide system of hard paved roads, serving all sections of the commonwealth and adding to the wealth, the commerce, and convenience of all the people.

If those who are genuinely interested in the welfare and progress of "all Georgia" will closely listen in on the pending proceedings it will be driven home to their common sense that they should demand abandonment of the county and district distribution nonsense, and an issue of self-redeeming road bonds in amount sufficient to speedily and splendidly lift Georgia "out of the mud!"

THE STATE BAR MEETING.

The Georgia Bar Association meets in this city on Thursday for its 46th annual session and affords the bar and citizens of Atlanta their first occasion to welcome and entertain this important body of their fellow-citizens.

The association embodies a large percentage of the lawyers of the state and in the total of its personnel measures for ability, probity and public influence with a like association of equal numbers in any state of the Union.

The lawyers of Georgia have always figured notably in the American profession and from their ranks have exalted jurists who have dignified the jurisprudence of the state and nation. Scandal has seldom invaded their ranks and the fewest of them have proved recreant to the ethics and oath of their very essential profession.

The relations of the lawyer to private rights and to public interests are of the most delicate character, so that the practice of law calls for a high grade of psychic power and personal integrity. The bar of Georgia can boast that its record leaves nothing to be desired in those qualifications and the people of Atlanta will be as one in giving cordial and unstinted welcome to its members gathered from all corners of the commonwealth.

A TALE NOT HALF TOLD.

The jamming of the newly framed tariff bill through the house of congress yesterday is really only the beginning of its transit from the house incubator to the permanent statute book. It must yet run through the "thousand islands" of special interests on the senate floor and then shoot the rapids between the conferees of the two chambers.

What character of act the president will eventually be asked to sign is beyond present mortal ken, but whatever its final form he will sign it.

It is the highest figured and most purposely protective bill that has ever been proposed in the congress. While it may not satisfy to the full every particular demand of the Chinese-wallites of New England and the cross-eyed dupes of the agrarian areas, it quite measurably fulfills the campaign promises of the republican leaders in the late presidential campaign. They pledged the party to protect American industries, including agriculture, and American labor to the nth degree—and the Hawley-Smoot bill, as it went through the house, about does that—on paper!

How all this figured protection will work out in experience will make another and possibly astonishing economic and political story.

THE PLIGHT OF PENNSY.

The newspapers of Pennsylvania are protesting with heat that by the failure of the United States senate to seat Bill Vare the great Keystone state is permitted to be only half-represented in the senate. Because Pennsylvania industries are strongly interested in the schedules of the pending tariff bill they are eager to have the state's two votes in action during the determination of the tariff protective rates.

But why do the Pennsylvanians hold on to Vare? The proof is strongly positive that he got his nomination to the senate by the use of a huge corruption fund and that the party managers perpetrated astounding electoral frauds in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to overcome the anti-Vare revolt throughout the rest of the state. The senate refused emphatically to receive and seat Vare as one of its members.

The verdict of the nation's public opinion is plainly that Vare is unfit to serve in the national senate and that as long as the Pennsylvania republicans insist that he shall represent the state they should not complain of the senate's refusal to seat him. The way for Pennsylvania to get her full representation in the senate is to demand Bill Vare's resignation.

GYPSUM COMES TO GEORGIA.

The announcement made at the Kiwanis club luncheon on Tuesday that the Canadian representatives of the Gypsum International Company, Ltd., have chosen Atlanta as the distributive center of its products, was of large importance to the city.

The company owns vast deposits of gypsum in Nova Scotia and will run a fleet of vessels to convey the raw material to Savannah, where the large manufacturing plant will be located. The valuable products, needing from 1,200 to 1,500 cars for their movement to Atlanta and hence to points of consumption, will be concentrated in and distributed from the Atlanta depot.

Gypsum is a valuable mineral of many colors and uses, and is especially employed in the mixing of special fertilizers for tobacco, plants and flowers. It is also used in alabaster works and in ornamental building blocks. The industries using it are many and the coming of this large enterprise to Georgia is but another proof of the advantages the state offers to investments of capital and enterprises looking for geographical, transportation and trade facilities.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Revolt in "Montparno."

The students of the Latin quarter were on the rampage again the other day. It started early on a Saturday afternoon. Five thousand royalists among them (read: temporary royalists for a royalist student, experience has shown, makes the best socialist deputy in parliament in later life) marched down the Boulevard Saint Michel calling for the return of "le bon Roi Jean" (Jean, duke de Guise now in exile in Belgium). The police were mobilized at short notice and took up their station at the Seine bridges to bar the demonstrators from the "grand" boulevards, where the tourists might get the wrong notion of French law and order. On the other hand thousands of radical students were massing near the Odeon to hold a counter-demonstration, which means a fight. The radicals marched around to intercept the monarchists. The police waited at the bridges. An hour went by. Nobody appeared. What had happened? This. Just at the moment when radicals and royalists were about to meet, there emerged from a side street another procession. The midinettes were having a parade of their own, thousands of them. The radicals first caught sight of the girls. Fraternization and sororization followed, and lots of it. Together they continued, a dancing, laughing mass of youth. Until the combined forces met the royalists and then there were cafes filled to overflowing and dancing and merry-making in the cabarets and clubs of the neighborhood till far into the night.

The "Wandering Jew."

In some parts of Europe they still believe in werewolfs, forest fairies and such-like superstitions. It is often incredible to what extent the old remnants of paganism have survived. In Brittanny peasants still sneak out by moonlight to the sacred tree and hang a garland of flowers on its branches, in spite of the clergy's vigilance and frowning on such practises. It will be recalled that this was one of the accusations against Joan of Arc five hundred years ago. It failed. Joan went to hear her voices and did not communicate with evil spirits. And now comes the news from rural Hungary that peasants there have seen the "Wandering Jew," that mysterious legendary figure that appeared so often in the Middle Ages and whose very name was used to frighten little children. He was seen, they say, at Burlki. The people recognized him at once. They gave him food and clothing in the hope that he would soon pass on his way. And this he did, as always. He was heading for the Rumanian border when last seen. Nobody asked him what his destination was. Had inquiry been made, it would probably have developed he was making for Palestine. There lies the end of his wandering, the legend says. And not only for him, but for his people too.

The Taking of Orleans.

Tens of thousands of people went to Orleans the first week of May to see the historical pageants and the re-enactment of the storming of that city five hundred years ago by the motley army under command of Joan of Arc. Twenty thousand French soldiers, dressed in the costumes of the time, impersonated the archers and yeomen of England and France. The "Dauphin" looked on while Joan scaled the ladders and planted the royal standard of France on the ramparts. Not far from the "Dauphin" sat Monsieur Doumergue, president of the republic. And when the royalists in the crowd of spectators raised a rousing cheer at the sight of the victorious "Fleur de Lys," M. Doumergue just smiled good-naturedly. And when the band of the Garde Republicaine at the same moment struck up the Marseillaise of the Revolution, the cheering went over to the other side. Joan stood to attention the while on the bulwarks, fleur de lys in hand. And the English "Godons" too, halberdiers and archers, dukes and nobles. Then the combat went on for the next stronghold. Arrows whizzed through the air and the clatter of swords and spears was heard. It was a hot skirmish, still nobody was hurt. Everybody enjoyed this war, which is as it should be. No bombs or machine guns or whizz-bangs or poison gas or liquid fire, a good old fashioned kind of war, full of chivalry, gorgeous costumes and a big spree for all the participants in the end.

Geo. M. Traylor Urges Increase in Gas Tax

Editor Constitution:

I respectfully submit the following suggestions and facts regarding our concrete public roads.

I lost a cotton crop three years ago on account of road grading and bridge building near my plantation after the first of August.

I had plenty of calcium arsenate and sulphur on the plantation to fight the Texas flea and boll weevil, but could not get my negro croppers to use it as they were tempted by the public works for cash, resulting in the crops being neglected and almost entirely destroyed by the boll weevil and Texas flea, besides the negro croppers not being able to pay for advances I had made them, causing a double loss.

My neighbor, a white family, on an adjoining farm, used calcium arsenate and sulphur, making a large crop of cotton the same year.

Only a short time since the state of Louisiana stopped all road work except with convicts for three months during the summer so that farmers could get labor to work their crops.

Georgia should increase the gasoline tax to at least five cents per gallon effective at once and all of this one cent increase should be applied to road building. There should also be a reasonable tax placed on cement and road machinery, proceeds to go to the counties which have issued bonds.

In this way the people who use the roads from practically every state in the Union would and should justly pay their proportion for using these roads exactly as the citizens of Georgia who motor in other states are compelled, and rightly so, through the gas tax in other states to pay in proportion as they use roads in such states.

This tax will then be amply sufficient to build our roads as rapidly as practical—paid for only by parties who use them.

I think any other plan would be unfair to the state at large, and especially a calamity to our agricultural interest throughout Georgia.

Sincerely yours,
GEO. M. TRAYLOR.

SERMONS TO LIVE BY

BY ELAM FRANKLIN DEMPSEY, D. D.

Text: Why is the House of God Forsaken?" Neh. 13:11.

Some men are patriotic without intelligence, others intelligent without patriotism.

The combination of these qualities is excellent, and gives to the nation a man who is not only a critic, but a constructive critic.

By means of his patriotism, he is distressed at every variation from that which is for the real well-being of his people, while by means of his intelligence, he is saved from wasting his energies in fighting against negligible matters.

In this criticism which Nehemiah passes upon the state of things existing in Jerusalem, we have just such a man putting his finger on a fundamental need.

The House of the Lord represents the religion of the people.

If then the house is forsaken it is a sign that the religion is neglected.

Therefore, the intelligent patriot takes proper alarm over that which is a truly hurtful neglect upon the part of his people.

A demagogue might have remained silent, but a patriot could not but speak out when he discerned the ill condition and so speak as to advance immediately toward its correction.

Nehemiah was not one to say, and do not, but with sword and trowel he valiantly set about the rebuilding of walls, temples and homes.

Thus he became the re-builder of a nation, the re-founder of a city, and the renewer of a religion.

The book of Nehemiah might well be presented to every congressman and senator as a statesman's manual.

Health Talks

BY DR. WM. F. BRADY

WHAT, CHEESE GOOD FOOD?

A reader offers this interesting comment:

"First I want to say that I have gained many useful hints about health from your column and I have picked up considerable general information from it, too, but I believe you dwell too much on technical matters which your readers do not understand. For instance wou often argue that "nervous breakdown" cannot happen, that there is no such disease. That may be true, but the average person reading your column would think you meant there is no such condition."

Well, I earnestly hope so. I do try to say what I mean and mean what I say, though I admit that I make a dismal failure of this sometimes. But let our friend continue:

". . . which, of course, is not true. I would say that some people are born with nervous temperament, and while it might not be classified as a disease, it is a condition that is just as bad as disease, and one that cannot be cured. 'Nervousness' may not be the correct word for this, but it has been used so long that everybody understands it, and so I can see no good reason for changing the name at this late day."

That's just what makes me so mad—that everybody understands this "nervousness" thing and I can't get head or tail of it. I would say that in the absence of definite disease or defect, nobody is born nervous or with "nervous temperament." I believe we are all born equal in that respect, always provided there is no actual disease or defect. I am not seeking to change the name of "nervousness" or "nervous breakdown" to anything else; I seek only to arouse the curiosity of victims of the nervous" complex as to just what, if anything, really does ail 'em.

If everybody understands this condition of "nervousness," or whatever it may be called, I do wish somebody, anybody at all, would enlighten me about it. No sense in my carrying on this way if I am wrong. My medical friends or enemies surely should speak out about it when I tell the world that a doctor who explains a patient's troubles away as "nervousness" or "nervous breakdown" is either concealing his own ignorance or concealing something in the patient's behalf. This constitutes a rather unpleasant charge against the integrity of the doctor who perpetrates the diagnosis of "nervousness" or "nervous breakdown," does it not? If the charge is false some physician of standing ought to have the decency to repudiate it as a slander on the fair name of the profession.

But our friend had not quite finished. He continues:

"Now I am writing this to request you not to use so much good space to discuss technicalities. When you say that cheese is not binding, and people are not nervous you are starting arguments that will last till doomsday without good coming to anyone. Use the space to give us the good sound medical advice that we all need. . . ."

The closing suggestion rather spoils the effect of our friend's criticism. I do not purport to give readers medical advice at all. Not that I would hesitate to do so if I believed I were competent to give medical advice by mail. But I don't believe any physician is competent to do that.

It is downright obstinate of me to reiterate here that cheese is not binding, and that no other wholesome food is binding. Cheese is perhaps less laxative than other foods, but a sensible person should not exlude cheese from the diet for that reason: rather he should take cheese, whatever kinds he likes, and take it often or daily, for it is an appetizing, wholesome, nutritious and economical food, but he should include in the diet a reasonable variety of other foods, which will bring the average effect of the diet to the desirable laxative level.

If we refrain from changing or trying to change things because they have been long customary, the world will stand still. I prefer a world that moves.

MYSTERY MURDER CAUSES ARRESTS

ing never was solved. In 1927, the woman cashed in the Burham policy, receiving only the amount she had paid in.

Asked $5,000 Policy.

On February 4, this year, police said, Mrs. Powers sent Hollis L. Mullis to a physician for examination for a $12,000 policy. The man was turned down. Parks then applied on April 15 for a $5,000 policy, naming Mrs. Powers as beneficiary. The woman took the alternate $7,000 double indemnity policy, however.

Mrs. Powers advertised frequently for roomers, officers said, but occasionally ventured into other fields. On one occasion she advertised for a partner to invest $5,000 in a real estate subdivision.

Manchester told police he was born in Toronto, Canada, but is now a resident of Rochester, Mich., 28 miles from Detroit, where his brother and father now live. He said he had been connected with a crime in Jacksonville, Fla., but refused to discuss the nature of it. He said he also had worked as a painter in Tampa, Fla.

Sheriff James R. Hicks, co-operating with Police Chief Ben T. Watkins, announced the two confessions. The woman's:

"I put an advertisement in the papers (several weeks ago) for a young man to help drive a car and work about the house. Both Parks and Manchester came in response to the advertisements.

Needed Money.

"I insured Parks . . . about four weeks ago. I didn't have any money and needed some badly, so I began to think about collecting the insurance on him.

"I talked to Manchester about it for the last two weeks and finally he agreed to do it. He was to get $1,000 out of the insurance money when it was paid to me.

"I gave him the pistol (found by officers in a wardrobe at her home today) and he carried it for several days. Monday night he came in and handed it back to me saying he had 'Done the job.' I did not inquire into the details."

Confronted with the woman's confession, Manchester signed one:

"The old lady talked to me about bumping off Parks for two weeks or more. Finally I agreed and she gave me the pistol. I tried three nights in a row but it was the third night before I had the opportunity.

"Hijack Rum Car."

". . . but Monday about dark I told him we would go down on Water street in East Macon and lay for a liquor car. He went along all right thinking we were going to hijack somebody.

"We lay down on the grass . . . and when he turned his back to me, I let him have it in the head."

Manchester and R. C. Compton, 19, both roomers, were arrested with Mrs. Powers yesterday. Compton was not mentioned by the police when they made the other two confessions public.

When Parks' body was found beside a bridge near the Ocmulgee river, police theorized that he was taken for a ride in metropolitan gangland style. They said they believed his slayers hauled the body to the bridge with the intention of throwing it in, but were frightened away and left their burden on the river bank.

Orphan.

Parks was reared in the Hapeville Orphanage, near Atlanta, and was a printer by trade. His companions were mostly Mercer university students, all of whom who knew him said they knew of no enemies he might have had.

Suspicion was directed toward Mrs. Powers late yesterday when detectives went to her home a second time to question her and found her "burning something in the stove," although the temperature was 84 degrees at the time.

The woman was taken to the city jail and later transferred to the county jail because of better facilities for women prisoners. On the way she expressed a desire to end her life, detectives said.

HOOVER OPPOSES CONGRESS RECESS

President Wants Session Until Farm and Tariff Measures Pass.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 29.—President Hoover wants congress to remain at work until it completes farm and tariff legislation for which it was called into extra session. He is opposed to the proposed long summer recess which would postpone tariff legislation until well into autumn.

The president's dissatisfaction with the proposed long recess was noised about the capitol today, breaking into plans for a three-month lay-off. Leaders who had visited the White House issued statements opposing the recess. These were followed late in the day by a statement from the White House, which said:

"The president has been in conference from time to time with the republican leaders of the senate and house upon the program of the session. These discussions all have been directed, upon both sides, to the completion of legislation for which the extra session was called.

"No program as to length of the recess on the tariff bill has yet been determined upon or recommended by the leaders. They are all firm for completion of the legislation at this session."

Responsibility on Congress.

By this statement the president placed upon congress the responsibility if it recesses for a long period without completing its program. He studiously has avoided any dictation of congress, which accounts for the neutral tone of this statement. But leaders have learned he is stoutly opposed to prolonged postponement of tariff legislation. A three-month recess might run the special session into the regular December session.

While plans for a recess were thus thrown into confusion, the skies were brightened somewhat by indications of agreement within the next few days on the farm relief bill. Conferees will meet Friday. Some of the senate conferees are expected to yield upon the controversial debenture plan which the senate voted. This will obviate a vote on the debenture in the house. House conferees walked out of the last meeting because the senate continued to insist upon a house vote and a deadlock ensued.

Senate supporters of the debenture will seek to keep it in the bill when the conference report goes to that body, but administration leaders are hopeful there will be the necessary shift of one or two votes. Debenture leaders insisted today, however, that their ranks are intact.

CARNES, IN TOWER, SEEKS INSURANCE

the interests of Mrs. Carnes in the insurance matter.

"Mrs. Carnes and her two boys need everything they can get," Mr. Branch said. "The clauses in Carnes' insurance contract specifically provide that the disability payments will be paid if he is totally disabled and we cannot see where it makes any difference even if Carnes is a prisoner and at this time without an earning capacity."

Mr. Branch said that if the matter was taken to court, he would be able to show many precedents for the action. He added that he had been in conference with Judge Arthur Powell, attorney for the mission board, and indicated that if court action becomes necessary it might be taken jointly by the board and Mrs. Carnes.

Health Is Broken.

In his cell at the tower, Carnes appeared in far worse health than he did several months ago when he was taken to Milledgeville to begin serving his sentence. His features were drawn tightly and his face was pale and wan.

"They say I have tuberculosis and can't get well," Carnes said. "I may have it but I'm going to get well. I feel much better now than I did several weeks ago and I think I shall continue to improve."

Carnes had words of praise for Superintendent Dunnaway and other officials at the prison farm.

"They treat me and all the other prisoners fine," the embezzler asserted. "I have been confined elsewhere, but never have I been treated better."

Carnes had an unexpected caller Wednesday afternoon. Shortly after being visited by his lawyers he was greeted by W. Lawrence Shippey, the acquitted slayer of Hall Davis, West End auto dealer, who drove up to the tower in a new automobile. Shippey said he had not heard of Carnes' return, but merely had stopped at the tower to visit friends he had made while he was being held there awaiting trial for the slaying of Davis, a charge on which he was acquitted when he pleaded that he killed Davis because of the motor dealers persistence in his attentions to Mrs. Shippey.

While in Atlanta Carnes also is expected to make several depositions in a suit against the Phoenix Realty Company, once a Carnes-controlled organization, the assets of which also were turned over to the mission board when the compromise sentence was agreed upon.

HOLDER PREPARES TO LEAVE BOARD

pleasure over the receipt of many messages of friendship from people in all sections of the state who sent him good wishes in his future business and political enterprises.

"I shall relinquish my duties conscious of the fact that I have done my duty as an official working for the best interests of the state and that I have given my best efforts and service to the state as chairman of the highway board," he said.

Chairman Holder announced that the board would meet Thursday at East Point and would issue certificates of indebtedness to all counties of the state which have advanced funds for the construction of state aid roads and which have not heretofore received such certificates.

Seward M. Smith, attorney for the board, will have charge of legal matters in connection with the injunction proceedings brought by Walton county officials. Marion Smith, Atlanta lawyer, will be his associate counsel. The hearing on the injunction will be held before Judge W. W. Starke at Commerce, June 8. This date was fixed by Judge Humphries when he granted the temporary restraining order.

Chairman Holder stated Wednesday that the postponement in the submission of bids until the Friday session was taken on the recommendation of Attorney Seward M. Smith, who asked for additional time to investigate some of the legal phases in connection with the advertisements for bids.

Hoover Law Enforcement Commission Starts Two-Year Study of Criminals

RETURN OF BURNS DECISION DELAYED

Springfield, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—A representative of Governor Emmerson, of Illinois, tonight had under advisement the requisition of Governor L. G. Hardman for the return to Georgia of Robert Elliott Burns, fugitive convict from Georgia and now prosperous Chicago magazine editor.

DeWitt Billmore, secretary of the legislative reference bureau, acting for the governor, heard the requisition today and delayed his decision. The requisition papers were accompanied by a letter from the Georgia prison commission stating that Burns was an escaped convict under a six to eight-year sentence.

Objects To Letter.

Attorneys for Burns pleaded that the requisition should have been accompanied either by an indictment or an affidavit, instead of an uncertified letter," and based their request that extradition be refused on that contention.

In the prison commission letter it was revealed that Burns escaped from the Campbell county (Georgia) chaingang in 1922, shortly after he began serving his senteuce on conviction of a $4 highway robbery in Atlanta.

Admitted Identity.

Burns was arrested in Chicago a few weeks ago and admitted his identity. He charged that his estranged wife "turned him in" and that he, since leaving Atlanta, had gone straight, and was earning $20,000 annually as editor of Great Chicago, a real estate promotional magazine. On the basis of his war record, the American Legion in Chicago and others instituted a plea for clemency in Georgia.

Governor Hardman declined to act until the case had gone through the usual routine, i.e., extradition of the prisoner to Georgia and perusal of clemency pleas by the state prison commission. To act prior to such routine would establish a doubtful precedent, the governor said. Accordingly recquisition papers were forwarded by air mail, and officers sent to return the prisoner. Hearing was held today. Burns is at liberty on $5,000 bond set at a habeas corpus hearing.

Burns is wanted in Georgia as a fugitive from a chain gang to which he was sentenced for the theft of $4.65.

His brother, the Rev. Vincent Burns, a Congregational minister, at Palisades, N. Y., today declared that when Burns returned from two years' service in France in 1919, he was a "mental and physical wreck, and absolutely uncontrollable."

The Rev. Burns said his brother was so shattered and haggard when he received his honorable discharge from the army that even his own family did not know him. The minister said the brother was not fit for work and disappeared in 1921.

"I did not see him again until in 1924 at my father's funeral," the Rev. Burns said. He added that it was through his brother's efforts that he was able to go to college and that Robert had always labored diligently for the welfare of his brothers and sisters.

Habeas corpus proceedings have been instituted by Burns before Judge Joseph B. David in Chicago. They will be heard Monday regardless of the opinion of Governor Emmerson, which probably will not be given before Monday. Judge David can pass on the sufficiency of the legal documents in the requisition, Burns' attorneys said.

LINDBERGHS LOST TO VIEW OF PUBLIC

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The Lone Eagle was still the lost Eagle tonight.

Driving out of the driveway of the Dwight W. Morrow estate at Englewood, N. J., Monday afternoon, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh, the former Anne Spencer Morrow, disappeared as completely as he did when he soared into the mists above Roosevelt field for France and that May morning two years ago.

The colonel's own speedy Falcon plane, equipped with enough gasoline for a thousand-mile flight, and two parachutes, stands in the hangar at Schenectady, N. Y., where it was flown yesterday, but its master has so far failed to appear and claim it. A vigil on the Morrow summer home at North Haven, Maine, also has failed to bring any sight of the Lindberghs.

Those who know Lindbergh believe that he is away somewhere on an aerial honeymoon, probably landing on private fields or impromptu ones, thus evading the wave of publicity which in two years has rolled unceasingly over him. But that's conjecture, too.

Youth Killed In Auto Crash Near Stillmore

Stillmore, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—An automobile accident here late tonight resulted in the death of Elmo Phillips, 19, and serious injury to Charles Moore, while five other occupants of the car escaped with minor bruises. The party of seven young men were en route to Durden's pond to attend an evening picnic when the accident occurred on the outskirts of Stillmore.

It was said that the accident was caused by the blinding lights of an approaching car which caused the driver to lose control of his car and turn turtle. Mr. Phillips was the son of Rev. C. L. Phillips, pastor of the Stillmore Baptist church, and in addition to his father is survived by one brother and two sisters, his stepmother and two half sisters.

Interment will be in North Thompson cemetery, Vidalia, in the family burial grounds, probably Thursday afternoon, although final arrangements have not yet been made.

Investigation To Cover Every Kind of Law Violation in All Parts of Nation.

BY KENNETH G. CRAWFORD,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 29.—President Hoover's law enforcement commission started today what may be a two-year study of crime and criminals from petty thievery to murder and from scofflaw to gangster.

Cuairman George W. Wickersham made it clear as the commission got down to work that the investigators will not confine their examination to prohibition violations alone and that it will not deal in generalities.

It will make a minute first-hand investigation of all law violation. The operations of second story workers, confidence men, speakeasy proprietors, racketeers, liquor runners, distillers, shysters and all manner of law violators will be studied.

The commission will also try to get the facts about law violation by the so-called law abiding citizen—the man who ignores traffic lights, patronizes the bootlegger and occasionally even disturbs the peace.

To accomplish all this, Wickersham proposes to divide the commission's ten members into sub-commissions, each to study one particular phase of the law enforcement problem. If necessary, these sub-commissions may go to various parts of the country to conduct hearings and study conditions.

To Learn Racketeering.

The commissioners assigned to learn the ins and outs of racketeering, for example, probably will go to Chicago to conduct at least part of its investigation. Another section may study New York's famous speakeasy system and still another the Carolinas' moonshine industry.

Each division will make use of the information already gathered by local authorities and the methods adopted in various localities for combating the kind of crime which is their own major problem.

Exhaustive Inquiry.

There is every indication the investigation will be the most exhaustive of its kind ever undertaken either in this country or abroad. Wickersham said he has no intention of hurrying the work at the expense of thoroughness.

The entire commission will meet from time to time to correlate the work of the various divisions and to discuss common problems. Hearings probably will be held in private, but the public will be notified occasionally of the commission's progress.

Conclusions will not be reached until the entire investigation is completed and then will be based on findings.

The commission held an executive meeting today in temporary quarters at the justice department following a conference between Wickersham, Attorny-General Mitchell and former Secretary of War Baker, a member of the commission. Most of the time was spent in informal discussion to "find out where we are," Wickersham said.

Permanent headquarters will be established as soon as possible in a downtown office building.

SENATE BODY AGAIN REVERSES ITS VOTE ON TEXTILE PROBE

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The senate manufactures committee today voted to refer the proposed investigation of labor conditions in the textile industry to the federal trade commission and tariff commission, reversing a previous decision to have the senate conduct the inquiry.

Senator Hatfield, republican, West Virginia, who once voted for a federal trade commission inquiry and later voted for a senate investigation, today moved a reconsideration and his vote switched the committee's decision again in favor of the trade commission investigation.

The vote today was six to five for the joint trade commission and tariff commission investigation.

Two reports of the committee will be presented to the senate probably this week. Senator La Follette announced the minority favoring a senate investigation would seek to have the senate adopt their report.

Senator Hatfield explained to newspapermen he thought he was voting for a federal trade commission investigation at the time he supported the motion of Senator Wheeler to report out his resolution calling for a senate inquiry.

SUN BACK BATHING SUITS ARE BANNED ON N. Y. BEACHES

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Sun-back bathing suits have been decreed indecent for wear on city bathing beaches.

"The police department doesn't want to be narrow-minded in this matter, but the people of New York demand a certain standard of decency at their beaches."

ANNEXATION PROPOSAL IN NORTH SIDE DROPPED

Councilman James L. Wells Withdraws After Protests From Residents.

Proposed annexation of a strip of territory lying in land lots 57, 103, 110, and that part of 56 and 104 not now in the city, will not be considered at a meeting of the charter revision committee which had been slated for tonight, it was announced Wednesday by Alderman Ed Gilliam, chairman of the committee.

Councilman James L. Wells, author of the paper, has withdrawn it and no session of the committee will be held tonight, according to the committee head.

Decision of Mr. Wells to withdraw the paper followed a protest of citizens in the affected area, who contended that establishment of the city limit lines in accordance with the proposal would react to bar children from school advantages in as much as two important county schools would remain outside the city and all city schools are now crowded to capacity.

A petition bearing the names of 90 per cent of the residents in the area was submitted to committee members.

If the annexation had been made in accordance with the proposal it would have included residential areas on either side of Peachtree road to a point just north of the Seaboard Air Line railway tracks, the Brookwood Hills sections, Collier estate and portions of the Rock Springs section.

PRESBYTERIANS DENY DOCTRINAL CHANGE

General Assembly Dismisses Protests Against School Changes.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—(AP)—Dismissing two formal protests against its action in ordering reorganization of management of Princeton Theological seminary the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America today denied that any change of the doctrinal stand at the seminary is contemplated.

The protests originated with fundamentalists who fought the reorganization plan of the grounds that it would place the seminary in a position open to change in its theological position.

The statement adopted by the assembly was in answer to a protest presented by Dr. J. A. Barr, of New Orleans, and others which charged the reorganization will remove the seminary from "that distinctive doctrinal position which it has the right and the solemn duty to maintain."

An answer was also adopted to a protest by Dr. J. Gresham Machen, member of the seminary faculty and a leader of a faction opposing its president, Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, charging him with liberalism. He protested that the procedure followed Monday when the reorganization plan was adopted was unreasonable in that a limit of 10 minutes was placed on speeches. The answer said this limit is substantiated by the laws of the assembly.

A plea for unity and for setting aside minor dissension to make more energy available for the "greater work" of the church was made by Dr. Cleland B. McAfee, of Chicago, moderator. Greater activity in both foreign and home missions also was urged.

Cincinnati was chosen as the site for the 1930 assembly. The invitation was extended by the First Presbyterian church there.

This change applies only to the season of 1929:

BROWN STUDENTS BATTLE POLICE; SCORE INJURED

Providence, R. I., May 29.—(AP)—More than a score of Brown university freshmen were injured here tonight when battered down by policemen's night sticks, and two bystanders are in hospitals suffering from bullet wounds as the aftermath of skirmishes between police and students following the annual necktie burning ceremonies of the class of '32.

The condition of one of the victims at the hospital is serious. The other was shot twice in the arm.

Fronts of several stores and a theater was damaged in the business section of the city by rioting students. Carrying red lights and clad in pajamas, the celebrators stormed through the principal streets. Police, armed with night sticks, and students clashed frequently. Spectators looked on while night clubs flailed and fists flew at the height of the celebration.

Mr. Rich told police that the men approached him while he was walking to work on Linden street, near Myrtle street. The wounds received from the butt of the gun did not prove serious, and Mr. Rich was treated at a local hospital and allowed to go home.

ATLANTA-TO-TEXAS AIRMAIL ROUTE SEEN

Postoffice Department To Hold Hearing June 12; Ft. Worth Western Terminal

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Assistant Postmaster-General Glover announced today that the inter-departmental committee on airways will hold a public hearing June 12 on petitions for the establishment of an air mail route between Atlanta, Dallas and Fort Worth.

The hearing will be in connection with one called to discuss the proposed Louisville-Dallas route.

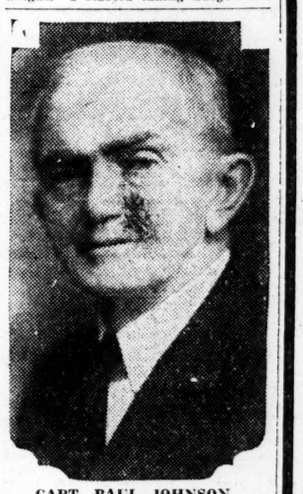

Besides hearing arguments for establishment of the Louisville-Dallas and the Atlanta-Fort Worth routes, the committee will consider the question of switching the Atlanta-New Orleans route so that it will run through Montgomery, Ala., instead of Birmingham as at present.

In the event this were done, Glover said, Birmingham would be placed on the proposed Atlanta-Dallas-Fort Worth route, which may eventually become a part of a southern transcontinental line. Glover declared the committee had fixed no definite line either on the proposed route between Atlanta and Fort Worth or on the one between Louisville and Dallas and would be guided entirely by the information obtained from those appearing from the various cities along the two proposed lines.

SARGON RESTORES CAPT. JOHNSON TO SPLENDID HEALTH

Regains Thirty Pounds He Had Lost—Stomach Trouble Is Entirely Overcome—Never Felt Better.

"I always enjoyed mighty good health up to last summer when I began to suffer from stomach trouble and got in a dreadful run-down condition. I lost thirty pounds in weight. I started taking Sargon and

CAPT. PAUL JOHNSON.

I not only gained back the thirty pounds I had lost but two pounds more besides, and the stomach trouble is entirely gone. I feel as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"Before I got hold of Sargon I thought I never would get back my health. I never was hungry and had to make myself eat. What little I did manage to force down did not seem to nourish me a bit but would disagree with me. I tried just about everything I thought would help me but nothing seemed to reach my trouble. I kept going down hill fast and my nerves got so upset I could hardly sleep.

"I kept hearing people tell what Sargon did for them and I decided to try it. I am certainly thankful now that I did. My appetite came back, and as soon as I commenced to eat plenty of good nourishing food I began to get better. I have taken five bottles of Sargon and I eat and sleep to my heart's content without ever a bit of indigestion or nervousness. When a man eats fine and sleeps fine he is just bound to get well. Sargon just took right hold and put me back on my feet.

"Recently I thought I would get a good 'looking over' and I went to one of the finest clinics in the country. They thumped me around, kept me there for a week, and then told me to come back and see them again when I was a hundred, as they thought I would be all right until that time anyhow.

"I am talking Sargon to everybody. It is a wonderful medicine."

Sargon has become a household word from coast to coast and sales continue to increase daily. A special Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, is explaining the therapeutic action of this revolutionary new medicine to hundreds daily. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

Fair and Warm Today; Mercury Hits 86 Mark

Jupiter Pluvius, seemingly well satisfied with the recent severe drenchings he has given the city, will in all probability call it off for a day or so and give the not so merry month of May a chance to retire in manner calculated to please the most ardent prohibitionist, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, which calls for continued warm and clear weather in Atlanta today.

The mercury Wednesday went on a little tear on its own account with the result that the high point for the day was an even 86, or just one degree below the highest figure that has been recorded so far this year which was on March 25.

The minimum figure Wednesday, 69, also a little above the recent readings, and today's extremes will be abount the same, Mr. von Herrmann thinks.

Atlanta.

Perhaps as much as upon any one person, the success this week of the Fulenwider All-Star Players' striking war melodrama, "Glamour," depends upon the ingenuity of the company's electrician, W. L. Rogers. Upon his shoulders rests the main burden for the remarkably realistic lighting effects that make the play so unusual. The flashing of distant seige guns, the explosion of star shells, the bursting of hand grenades, the eerie dawn through the fog, the sweeping of searchlights, the drone of bombing planes, all of these unusual stage effects are accomplished through the work of Rogers.

Keith's Georgia.

"The Man I Love," featuring Richard Arlen and Mary Brian, is the feature picture offered by Keith's Georgia theater this week. This is the first time that the voices of Arlen and Brian have been heard on the screen. The story depicts the adventures of a young married couple in the large city. On the stage Manny King & Company in a one-act comedy entitled "A Night in Greenwich Village," holds the headline position on the new vaudeville show. Three other big Keith acts round out the program.

Loew's Capitol.

A new talking picture of the underworld, "The Voice of the City," is presented on the screen at Loew's Capitol, along with five acts of Loew vaudeville. It is the story of a young chap who escapes from Sing Sing in a daring break and hides in the mazes of gangland, only to fall victim to the intrigues of the crooks. A tender romance is woven into the plot and an unusual circumstance finally proves the boy's innocence of the crime for which he was sentenced to prison. Tom Brown and the Six Brown Brothers, one of the most popular musical and comedy acts in vaudeville, tops the stage program.

Metropolitan.

Warner Baxter and Edmund Lowe, who created a sensation in "In Old Arizona," and Mary Duncan, formerly of "The Shanghai Gesture," are seen and heard in "Through Different Eyes," the all-talking sensation at the Metropolitan this week. On the same program is seen Sam Coslow, Vitaphone star, and "Matchmaking Mamas," a Mack Sennett comedy.

Howard.

Atlanta children are seeing themselves in the movies this week at the Howard theater where the romance of 2,000 Atlanta school children is being presented this week in a special motion picture reel which includes "shots" taken at almost every Atlanta school and shows the children in many activities. The reel was made especially by the Howard theater and is called the "Davy Durand" reel in honor of the winning juvenile star in "Innocents of Paris," feature picture which is playing at the Howard.

Rialto.

Rex Lease became a successful song demonstrator during the filming of "The Younger Generation," the Columbia De Luxe special production showing at the Rialto theater. Mounted on a truck with a piano, Lease was so successful in making the street sequence that pedestrians almost started a riot in their eagerness to obtain copies of the song used in the production.

Loew's Grand.

Douglas Fairbanks in "The Iron Mask," sequel to his famous "Three Musketeers," is the screen attraction at Loew's Grand. The picture, synchronized with musical score and sound effects, depicts a historic episode of 17th century France, the attempt to kidnap a king and substitute his twin brother as the ruler of the land. Fairbanks again has the role of D'Artagnan, particularly suited to his talent and temperament.

Cameo.

"The Rescue," showing today at the Cameo theater, reveals Ronald Colman in the stardom to which Samuel Goldwyn has elevated him as a result of popular demand. In this, Joseph Conrad's great story of the sea, Mr. Colman gives the most stirring characterization of his screen career. It is the story of honor, love and betrayal in the Java seas, photographed against tropical backgrounds of rare beauty.

Alamo No. 2.

"Fleetwing," a fascinating romance of an Arabian dancing girl, and tingling with adventurous action, will have a showing at the Alamo No. 2 theater today.

Empire.

365-TON CANNON TO BE TRANSPORTED ACROSS COUNTRY

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—A 14-inch gun, weighing with its mount 730,000 pounds, is to be sent from the proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., to the Presidio at San Francisco. The trip, starting June 10, will test the ability of transcontinental roads to move heavy ordnance.

DR. NELLANS RESIGNS AS PRISON PHYSICIAN

Atlanta Pen "Spy System" Proved Unpleasant, He Says in Statement.

Dr. Charles T. Nellans, physician at the Atlanta federal penitentiary for the past four years, Wednesday confirmed Washington reports that he had resigned his position in order to devote more time to his private practice.

He requested that his resignation become effective at the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, but that he be relieved from active duty June 1.

Dr. Nellans stated that the recent unsettled conditions at the penitentiary were not directly responsible for his action.

"I have been prison physician for four years," he declared, "and for the past few months have been anxious to resign so that I may devote more time to my own practice. I also am a member of the parole board and I am glad to be able to surrender this exceedingly exacting position."

In speaking of the "spy system," which was responsible for the resignation of Warden Snook, Dr. Nellans said that "a spy system, of course, proved unpleasant to all concerned and somewhat hampered operations in the hospital as elsewhere, but this situation only indirectly influenced me to resign."

His letter to Mrs. Willebrandt, dated May 2, follows:

"In July of this year I shall have been connected with the United States penitentiary in Atlanta in the capacity of physician for four years.

"Inasmuch as the fiscal year closes on June 30, and I desire to terminate my relation with the service, I should like to have this, my resignation, become effective on that date. Moreover, the department being agreeable, I should appreciate being inactive after June 1."

BUS, COACH, TRUCK OPERATORS FORM NEW ASSOCIATION

Bus, coach and truck operators from many parts of the state at the Ansley hotel Tuesday night organized the Georgia Highway Transporation Association. The purpose will be to effect a closer relationship between all bus and truck operators in Georgia for their mutual interest and in the interest of the public.

Organization will be perfected next week. About 85 per cent of the bus and truck business was represented at the meeting, which was called by J. C. Steinmetz, of the Greyhound lines, who presided. E. Smyth Gambrell, of Underwood, Haas & Gambrell, acted as secretary.

A constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following directors elected: Bernard Wally, J. C. Steinmetz, of the Greyhound lines; Joel Wright, of the Inter-Carolinas Bus Company, and James Sherer, of the Baker Bus lines. Three more directors and the permanent officers of the association are to be chosen at the next meeting.

Serious Difficulties May Result From Tariff Bill Passage, Says Stimson

BY LYLE C. WILSON,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 29.—Secretary of State Stimson is contemplating means of impressing congress with the serious international difficulties which American diplomats secretly charge will result from the present schedules of the Hawley tariff bill as passed by the house.

Confidential reports from American diplomats abroad outlining foreign reactions to the increased rates have been received by the state department and forewarded to President Hoover, Stimson said today. Stimson now is considering the possibility of making available to congress digests of foreign newspaper comment which is becoming increasingly critical as the tariff bill progresses through congress.

Excerpts from an editorial in La Nacion of Buenos Aires were brought to Stimson's attention today. La Nacion called on the Argentine press to defend the country's interests against American tariffs. The increased tariff on beef particularly was objected to, although Argentine is hit also by the wool and flaxseed schedules. The paper criticized the Argentine government for failing to appoint an ambassador to Washington to defend Argentine interests.

Press Only Weapon.

"Our only weapon," the paper said, "is our serious-minded press. People in the United States should understand that insurmountable tariff walls erected against our products will inevitably diminish our purchasing power."

American diplomats privately express the fear the new schedules will cause vast ill-will toward the United States and simultaneously decrease foreign trade. Canada and Argentina, for instance, buy almost twice as much from us as the United States buys from them.

Dispatches from abroad have indicated widespread anxiety over the American tariff bill. The Czecho-Slovakian Chamber of Commerce has called attention to the Hawley bill's potential effect upon the glassware and leather industry.

Italians estimate their prospective losses at hundreds of millions of lire.

Comment Bitter.

"Our comment cannot be but bitter," the Journal of Italy is quoted in today's dispatches from Rome. "The approval of the new customs tariffs, amounting to virtual prohibition, cannot leave us indifferent."

These rumblings of economic boycotts against the United States are being brought to the attention of individual senators through personal contacts with persons in the executive branch, but a more forceful presentation will be made if feasible.

ARMY CORPS CHIEF RELIEVED; WILL FACECOURTMARTIAL

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The war department has ordered a court-martial to convene June 3 for Colonel Berkeley Enochs, former chief of staff of the second corps area, Governors Island, N. Y., on charges preferred by Major General Hanson E. Ely, commanding general of the area.

Officials of the war department refused to disclose the nature of the charges and said the court had been summoned by the department instead of by General Ely, since the latter was a party to the case.

Documents relating to the charges were forwarded to the department and were returned to the Governors Island station after the designation of the court.

FOUR-YEAR TERM UP ON JUNE 30.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Colonel Berkeley Enochs, chief of staff of the second army corps area, who has been ordered court-martialed by the war department on charges preferred by his immediate superior, Major General Hanson D. Ely, commander of the second corps area, was "temporarily" relieved of his duty by General Ely on May 13.

Colonel Enochs would have completed the four years' service for which chiefs of staff are appointed on June 30, and was already in possession of orders transferring him on that date to San Antonio, where he was to act as co-ordinator of the eighth corps, co-ordinating the activities of the army, navy and other government departments under the director of the budget at Washington.

KELLOGG WAR PACT POINTS WAY TO PEACE

Conway, Ark., May 29.—(AP)—Until the Kellogg-Briand war pact is followed up "by definite arrangements for the adjustment of controversies between nations, its chief benefits will be limited to the stimulation of public sentiment for peace and the promotion of that mutual good will which is the only sure foundation for amicable international relations," Senator Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas, said in an address here today.

Speaking at commencement exercises at Central college, the senate minority leader and democratic vice presidential candidate last year reviewed international efforts for peace since 1899.

"Underlying the failures of the past and the struggles of the present to arrive at arrangements which will safeguard peace," he stated, "is a purpose well nigh universal which is supported by moral influences everywhere and that purpose in time will prevail so that out of the long night of desolation, destruction and despair, shall come a dawn of gladness in which the world may at last enjoy security, justice and peace."

Senator Robinson said the Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war treaty "has been ridiculed as worthless by some and praised by others as marking a crisis in world affairs."

"From a practical standpoint the value of this agreement must be tested before its strength can be determined."

The real difficulty of settlement of disputes, he said, grows out of issues of fact. "Always when nations threaten war it is justified on the alleged ground of self-defense."

TUNNEY WILL FIGHT SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Stamford, Conn., May 29.—(AP)—Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the democratic national committee and former state's attorney for Fairfield county, announced today that he had been engaged to make an appearance in superior court at Bridgeport on behalf of James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, in the $500,000 breach of promise suit brought against him by Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, of New York.

"The suit will be contested to the limit," Mr. Cummings said. He added that his firm is preparing an answer to the charges of Mrs. Fogarty that Tunney proposed to her and was accepted and then "married another person"—the former Polly Lauder. Cummings declared this answer need not be filed until June 24, or 20 days after the order to Tunney to appear is made returnable.

FOREMAN RE-ELECTED ART ASSOCIATION HEAD

Robert L. Foreman, Sr., was re-elected president of the Atlanta Art Association at the annual meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the High Museum of Art. Other officers of the association are J. J. Haverty, Dr. Thomas P. Hinman and Mrs. Sam M. Inman, vice presidents; Robert F. Maddox, treasurer, and Dameron Black, assistant treasurer. J. Carroll Payne, a former president, was elected an honorary trustee for life.

There was no secretary elected, inasmuch as the director of the association acts in that capacity, and the association, since the resignation of R. J. McKinney, has been without a director and secretary. Ben Schute, who is in charge of the art school, has been appointed acting director and secretary and will serve in that position until a new director is selected.

Annual reports were read and brought out the fact that more than 20,000 persons visited the museum during the past year. The membership has shown a decided increase and, in general, the association has had a profitable and very satisfactory year, President Foreman stated.

High Blood Pressure Due to Constipation and Biliousness

If Alertox Fails—Call a Doctor

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, a new chemical discovery, through a process of elimination, corrects all toxic conditions, and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. At all druggists or sent direct upon receipt of price, 60c and $1. Alertox, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

PALM BEACH SUITS

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiance, Geoffrey Ford, a well-known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Pre-occupied with her own trouble she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decided to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy, and Percival Arthur leave for the south of France.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

ALTOGETHER TOO BLAMELESS.

Here was Joy, prepared to take life as it came from day to day. Keep the appointment book, make out the accounts, type the letters, run this amazing house, and, for the rest, she could bathe, go for walks, play tennis, meet all sorts of people. It made time fly so that Joy often forgot. It filled time up, so that she did not often remember the relentless waste of this situation.

Only sometimes, at night, it came to her (like a gay tune reset with minor melodies) that here she was in this lovely place, a young girl full of health and go—who might just as well be a Simpett! What was the good of being young and nice looking with pretty clothes—when she was practically sentenced to do without, for life, that for which most women desire youth, looks, and clothes? Much plainer girls were to have more of love. Girls whose mouths could not be likened to flower petals were to—well, never mind that. Better not to think about kisses, except that it was odd once to have given and taken so many, whereas she now could hardly realize what it had felt like, and would presently (she supposed) be able to imagine that she had never in her life been kissed. As Geoffrey wrote, "It is the headiest wine that leaves the least after taste." Better not to think. . . . Except that here she was hung up like Mahomet's coffin between two men, neither of them meaning—well, anything.

One of them had merely shattered her dream, jilted her, turned back upon her all the lovely passion and devotion in her so that she had gone straight away and made, to the other man, a proposition that she could now hardly believe in herself.

The other man was just the employer who could never sack her. He took no notice of her; he showed no signs that he wasn't perfectly satisfied with this arrangement. Good. That is, she often felt herself definitely hardening against Rex Travers, not because she was in the least apt to wish him to notice her (she was not; she never would be), but he must be peculiarly inhuman, since it had not occurred to him to ask himself what lay behind the bravado of that moment when she said, "Why don't you marry me?"

It did not matter now. It was all done. Travers' practice and the boy's future were assured, and he would not object to anything she did, provided she kept within the terms of her bargain, which, naturally, she would. It was a point of pride with her to make herself, at the villa newly wed, as efficient as she had been in Harley street. If she had sometimes thought of Dr. Locke's remark, "It would not be difficult to get back your freedom," she thought of it less and less. Life outside the place was becoming unreal. Joy had a queer feeling that freedom, after all this, would not bring back the life of which she had once dreamed. In the meantime, there was this new, full, amusing life. There was making the best of what she called "this Rex bargain," and finding that it could be good enough.

Apart from Rex she enjoyed everything.

And so it was that of these three people at Mon Plaisir, the only one who was not throwing himself happily into the novelty of it all and enjoying the new life was Dr. Rex Travers himself.

Rex Travers, almost immediately after he had taken up this new practice, committed the insular folly of telling himself that he had no use for "abroad."

At all events, not for this bit of it. Not for the southern, eucalyptus-scented, dusty, palmy, frivolous, mercenary coast of pleasure, where the perpetual heat-haze shook its veil over the outline of the Esterels, and caused to waver those white cubes of the villas which look as if some giant had upset a sugar basin over the Riviera foothills. Rex, who had been brought up under (when not actually in) the good gray nipping northern skies where sea gulls scream above the gale, considered that this climate's soft and basking warmth was only adapted to lizards, animal and human. (For some of the fashionable visitors here were enough to make a man feel sorry he was English. Possibly some of the others made men feel sorry they were American, French, Swedish, Argentine, Portuguese, or Greek). There was no bite in this air.

Rex disliked the perpetual blue above, matching that bay of unaltering fullness. Never before had this islander lived near a shore without low tide, without high tide. He supposed the scenery was very fine; personally he found it artificial, overcolored, just like a stage set. The garden was what people called lovely—but Lord, all this sickly, enervating flower scent!

Rex missed London, missed his club, missed his friends and colleagues, missed his usual activities, very badly missed his flying weekends, and felt definitely exiled. He had sold his birthright for this mess of pottage. Excellent pay for little work; but how could he become enthusiastic about this work—not much more than visiting a collection of English tabbies with nothing to do but nurse ailments either imaginary or due to under exercise.

Very galling to remember that Percival Arthur's future depended upon his uncle's making himself agreeable to and having patience with such things as the Simpetts were made of. He loathed the daily duty visits to their villa, Mon Repos, where he had to listen not only to symptoms but to well meant comments upon what a lucky man he was.

"I always say it must be so delightful to start your married life in such ideal surroundings. I saw that pretty young wife of yours just now among her roses! Quite an idyll! Really, Doctor Travers, you are a most fortunate man, if I may say so. Nothing left to wish for, it seems to me. Don't you feel you are quite one of fortune's favorites?"

"Quite," said Rex Travers, and felt a fool. Lord, if he could only have jacked up everything, gone straight home, found something—anything else!

Only, of course, there was still and always the boy to consider.

Also, now, there was the girl, Joy.

Impossible to help wondering what Mary made of some of the domestic arrangements. Not that it mattered, but who wants to be conscious that faithful minds are finding something funny about your married life? and he had seen Mary's well trained mask break more than once to show a gleam of bewilderment.

The last time it had driven him to a rather absurd action. He had picked his moment, had knocked at Joy's bedroom door when he knew she was conferring with Melanie in the kitchen, had walked in swiftly, and, without giving a glance about him, he had planted down on the glass of that dressing table an object which he knew would be promptly recognized by Mary—his amber mouthpiece.

Then he moved quickly out again. When Mary found that, it might convince her that after all her master did occasionally set foot in her young mistress' room.

Mary, however, was not to be allowed time to discover this evidence.

It was Joy herself who brought the thing back to him, holding it out on a pink palm.

"Isn't this your cigaret holder? It was on my dressing table," she told him, so simply and obviously unaware of any Machiavellian design that had left it there, that Rex had no heart to inform her. "Look here, I put it in your room on purpose, a blind for the maids."

So he had to say "Oh, Thank you. I suppose all my belongings will be turning up presently. It's amazing where things get to in a move," to thrust the thing back into his pocket, and to let the demure Mary go on thinking whatever she chose to think.

Joy was not to blame.

Joy was never to blame, these days.

If anything, Joy was altogether too blameless.

Ft. McPherson Finds Interest In Ga. Academy Commencement

Fort McPherson, May 29.—Commencement and all the attendant activities of this gladsome time is occupying the thoughts of the military set as well as the civilian social set. The commencement exercises at the Georgia Military Academy are of particular interest, for in the graduating class of Wednesday there is a member of the post personnel, Cadet Robert Joerg, III, elder son of Captain and Mrs. Robert Joerg, Jr. Cadet Joerg has made a splendid record during his two years at the beloved old "G. M. A.," having been awarded medals for excellence in both literary and athletic achievements, and he is one of the most popular members of the student body. It is with sincere regret that his classmates will bid him adieu when he leaves with his parents June 1 for station in Porto Rico.

Chaplain and Mrs. John Hall will entertain at dinner at their quarters in the garrison Friday evening, May 31, in honor of a distinguished visitor in military circles, Chaplain Edmond P. Easterbrook, who is the chief of chaplains of the United States army. Covers will be placed for Mr. and Mrs. James Morton, the Reverend Doctor and Mrs. R. L. Russell, Chaplain Easterbrook and Chaplain and Mrs. Hall.

Chapel Services.

Sunday morning Chaplain Easterbrook will conduct the 11 o'clock service at the post chapel and a cordial invitation is extended to the entire garrison and their friends to attend this service. A special musical program has been arranged by the choir with Mrs. John Hall as organist.

Captain and Mrs. Ralph E. Powell were hosts to the members of their bridge club and a few additional friends Tuesday evening at their quarters in the post. After several rubbers of bridge a delightful Dutch supper was served. The guests were Captain and Mrs. Richard T. Edwards, Mrs. Simeon J. Seals, Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey, Lieutenant and Mrs. A. M. Parsons, Lieutenant and Mrs. I. H. Joffee, Lieutenant and Mrs. F. de L. Comfort and Major Harry E. Dieber.

Mrs. Robert Joerg will be honor guest at a bridge-tea to be given today by Mrs. John R. Dinsmore at her quarters in the garrison. Mrs. Joerg, who has endeared herself to the entire garrison since her arrival here for station eighteen months ago, will be greatly missed. Invited to meet Mrs. Joerg are Mesdames Lochlin W. Caffey, Clyde C. Abraham, Hans R. W. Herwig, Gustav H. Franke, Oliver Allen, Simeon J. Seals, Richard T. Edwards, Charles Core Gans, W. G. Brewster, Claude M. McQuarrie, Thomas H. Ramsey, Walter Scott Winn and Miss Dorothy Tebbetts.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Frank S. Burton and Miss Helen Le Favour entertained at a delightful bridge-tea at Mrs. Burton's quarters at the post. There were four tables arranged for bridge and several additional guests called at the tea hour.

Departures.

Miss Florence Blanchfield and Miss Anna Claypoole left by motor Wednesday for a month's leave before going to their new station at Walter Read general hospital at Washington, D. C. En route Miss Blanchfield and Miss Claypoole will visit friends in Greenville, S. C., and plan to spend several weeks in the mountains of Virginia and North Carolina. During their tour of duty in the post as popular and efficient members of the army nurse corps they have won an enviable place in the military set, and the good wishes of a host of friends follow them to their new station.

Major-General Richmond Pearson Davis, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Lieutenant Gilbert Procter, left Tuesday for Fort Oglethorpe on an inspection trip. General Davis and Lieutenant Procter will return to the garrison Thursday.

Mrs. Rufus A. Parsons, who has been the guest of Major and Mrs. Roland Gaugler at their quarters in the post since she closed her apartment in building 27, left Wednesday to join Captain Parsons and enjoy a vacation in the mountains of Virginia before reporting to their new station at Fort Leonard Wood early in September. Both Captain and Mrs. Parsons have been attractive additions to the social life of the garrison, and have been noted for their charmingly informal parties.

Memorable Days

Decoration Day

May 30, 1868
May 30, 1929

The beautiful courtesy of decorating soldiers' graves originated in the South. Two years later, in 1868, May 30 was set apart by the United States government for the purpose of honoring the Civil War soldiers who had fallen in defense of Old Glory.

Twice since that distant day, war has multiplied the ranks of those who are "sleeping by the thousands till the royal reveille."

A generation ago, through the blossoms of spring, Decoration Day expressed love for the martyrs of the Spanish-American War. And now, nearest to our own time — and therefore dearest to living America—are the graves of the World War boys. Today we gather flowers

"With our heart's love, with our soul's pray'r

For all our Fallen 'Over There.'"

Mrs. Baskin Weds Mr. Setze At Quiet Home Ceremony

A marriage characterized by quiet beauty and one of cordial interest to host of friends was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Middlebrooks Baskin to Julius Adolphus Setze, which was solemnized at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's father, Thomas Jefferson Middlebrooks. Dr. Richard Orme Flynn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of only the immediate families. The lovely young bride wore for the occasion a modish ensemble costume of moderne blue georgette, fashioned with a blouse of sun-tan chiffon, combined with exquisite lace of an ivory tone, the skirt being finely pleated. Her hat was a becoming model of transparent horsehair braid in the same shade of blue, and a handsome biege fox fur completed her costume. Her flowers were a shoulder spray of orchids and valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a wedding journey to Florida, sailing from there to Cuba. Upon their return, they will be at home at 672 Sherwood road in Morningside.

Mrs. Setze, whose radiant beauty is combined with great personal charm, is the daughter of Thomas Jefferson Middlebrooks and the late Mrs. Middlebrooks, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Augusta Broyles, a descendant of the Taliaferro family, who were early settlers of Georgia.

Mr. Setze is a prominent young attorney and clubman of Atlanta. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Waddell Setze, Sr., and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Delta Theta Pi, legal fraternity, having graduated from Georgia School of Technology and the Atlanta Law School. He is a member of the Atlanta Athletic Club and the East Lake Country Club. His maternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McClatchey, Sr., and Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Setze, of Marietta, were his paternal grandparents. His marriage to Mrs. Baskin unites two of the city's well-known families, the announcement of which occasions wide interest of a host of friends throughout the state.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHY DIPPER NEVER COMES ASHORE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

And envy not another's skill.
—Old Mother Nature.

There was one thing that Peter Rabbit had noticed about the Grebes and this was that they never came ashore. Never since he had known them had he seen either Dipper or Mrs. Grebe out of water, excepting when Mrs. Grebe was on her nest and that nest was entirely surrounded by water. He wondered about this a good deal. Mr. and Mrs. Quack, the Mallard Ducks, Mr. and Mrs. Black Duck, and Beauty the Wood Duck and his family, often came out of water. He had seen them on the shore many times. So it seemed to him strange that he never saw the Grebes on land.

One morning Dipper swam over close to where Peter was sitting. "Dipper," said Peter, "I have never seen you or Mrs. Grebe on the land."

Dipper chuckled. "You never will if I can help it," said he.

"Why?" demanded Peter.

Dipper's eyes twinkled. He didn't reply directly. Instead, he said, "Peter, I have never seen you in swimming."

"Huh;" exclaimed Peter. "You never will if I can help it."

"Why?" demanded Dipper, and his eyes twinkled more than ever.

"And I don't like the land," replied Dipper.

A sudden thought struck Peter. "Can you walk?" he demanded.

Dipper chuckled. "I don't suppose you would call it walking," said he. "I can get along after a fashion for a little way, but not for far, and it is more running than walking. To tell you the truth, Peter, we Grebes are almost helpless on land, so we never come on land, unless it is to sit on the very edge of the water."

"I don't see why you should be so helpless. I don't see why you should be any more helpless than the Ducks," said Peter.

Dipper rolled half over on his back and held up a queer looking foot. It wasn't webbed like the foot of a Duck, but there were queer flaps or scallops of skin between the toes. "Look at that foot!" said Dipper. "Look at that leg! Have you ever seen a shorter one?"

Peter acknowledged that he never had.

"How could you expect any one to walk with legs as short as mine and way back at the very end of my body? Those legs are meant for swimming and not for walking. No, sir, you don't get this bird on land if he can help it!" said Dipper. "I am a swimmer and a diver and the water is quite good enough for me. If there is any one more at home on and in the water, I don't know who it is."

"Dipper," said Peter, "I have never seen you or Mrs. Grebe on the Land."

"I suppose you can fly," said Peter.

"If I couldn't fly, how could I have come here?" demanded Dipper. "Of course I can fly. But I don't do any flying excepting to get south in winter and north in summer. Give me the water and I'll leave the land and the air to others."

Swampscott, Mass., May 29.—(AP)—Women of the country were urged to familiarize themselves with the power issue and legislation governing power development by Governor Charles W. Tobey, of New Hampshire, in an address before the legislative session of the biennial council, General Federation of Women's Clubs, here today.

Governor Tobey advised the women to act in their own behalf in matters of legislation and not to leave this to the men. He told them they should study the laws and regulations under which the power corporations operate and should know the details of these operations.

Before adjourning the forenoon session of the council voted to create a $2,000,000 fund to make the general federation self-supporting. The money is to be provided by the various state organizations.

MRS. GENE TUNNEY DECLARED ON WAY TO QUICK RECOVERY

Berlin, May 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Gene Tunney is progressing normally and her condition is excellent, Professor Arthur W. Meyer, German specialist, told the Associated Press on his arrival from the Island of Brioni today.

Asked why he had rushed to Brioni last week in response to a hurry call, Dr. Meyer replied:

"Because Tunney was frightened."

He explained that the natural infiltration in the tissues in such a severe case of appendicitis was bound to continue and to cause some pain, even after an operation, and that the local physician, when called in, made a serious face, thereupon the former heavyweight champion became worried and immediately wired for Dr. Meyer.

The specialist smilingly declared that anything like complications or even another operation was out of the question and that he expected Mrs. Tunney to leave her bed shortly.

ATLANTIC VESSEL WITH 1-MAN CREW STOPS AT MIAMI

Miami, Fla., May 29.—(AP)—Paul Muller, Berlin grocer, rested here today after his valient one-man conquest of the Atlantic. He put in at this port yesterday and related his 10 months' battle with wind and wave.

Arriving in his 18-foot sloop several days late from Havana, the mariner said the last lap of his perilous voyage was one of the hardest. He fought desperately with an angry sea for seven days.

Muller left Hamburg, Germany, last July.

Entry of the sloop, which according to the battered and dim lettering on the stern is the Aga, took but a few minutes. Five government officers, including representatives of customs, immigration and public health service, crowded the flush deck of the craft that carried but one man.

Nellie Peters Black Kindergarten Gives Original Play

The pupils of the Nellie Peters Black kindergarten of Luckie Street school presented a play-frolic yesterday morning in the kindergarten. The children's spontaniety and originality in the rendition of song, play, rythms and games portrayed the preservation of creative activity. The schoolroom walls were festooned with green paper chains, dotted with paper flowers made by the children.

This school bears the name of the late Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, beloved founder of kindergartens in this city which were established 28 years ago. For the past 22 years Mrs. Kate N. Jolly has been the kindergarten's sole director. Her teachings have embodied the fundamental ideals of the founder to whom she was so devoted. Mrs. Black's efforts were not confined to the kindergarten alone, but to bettering the lives and opportunities of the youth in the rural sections. She advocated and assisted in establishing agricultural schools over the entire state. This noble woman was inspired to do this through her love for humanity, without a thought of recognition or recompense.

Mrs. John F. McDougald, daughter of the late Mrs. Black, was an honored guest at the kindergarten yesterday morning.

DROWSY, DIZZY, BILIOUSNESS

But After Taking Thedford's Black-Draught, Lady Says She Feels Fine

Wofford, Ky.—Mrs. Orpha Hill, of this place, says: "I think Thedford's Black-Draught is the very first medicine I ever knew anything about. When I was a child, if I did not feel well, or if I had a cold, my mother gave me Black-Draught.

"When I was married, it became a family medicine in my own home, as it was in my mother's.

"I take it for headache, and especially for constipation.

"When I get bilious, my skin gets yellow and I have a very bad taste in my mouth, and a drowsy feeling all during the day. My eyes burn and I get dizzy, or my head is 'swimming.'

"When I take Black-Draught, it seems to drive the impurities out of my system, and I feel fine.

"My children are grown now, and Black-Draught still has its place on my medicine shelf. I am seldom without this old reliable remedy. I certainly recommend it."

NEW RECORD IS PREDICTED FOR SPEEDWAY

Thirty-Three Speedsters Will Start 500-Mile Grind.

By Bert Demby.

Indianapolis, May 29.—(United News.)—With every car having qualified at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour and the mechanism thoroughly tested, 33 of the world's fastest automobiles tonight were in readiness for the start of the annual 500-mile Memorial Day Speedway race here tomorrow.

The fast qualifying time made by several of the entrants led race men to believe that tomorrow's race would see some thrilling driving and possibly a new speed record. The present 500-mile mark is held by Pete De Paolo, who drove in the 1925 race at an average of 101.130 miles an hour.

RECORD PREDICTED.

Leon Duray's remarkable record of 106.193 miles per hour for the first 100 miles of the distance also is in danger of being surpassed, it was predicted tonight. The first hundred miles are the most closely contested and furnish most of the thrills for the spectators.

In that period all drivers endeavor to get the lead because of lap prizes which give the winner of each lap $100. A driver who maintains the lead for any length of time in the earlier part of the race wins several thousand dollars. Leon Duray, Cliff Woodbury and Ralph Hepburn are expected to stage a neck and neck battle in this lap competition.

Woodbury won the hole position with a speed of more than 121 miles an hour in the qualifications. Duray's speed was about a mile under that of Woodbury.

DURAY FAVORED.

Track followers believe Duray has the fastest car in the race and it would not be surprising if he took the lead away from Woodbury. The probability of this gave promise that the race fans would see a great duel between two of the gamest drivers on the track.

Duray is known as a "wild man" on the turns and Woodbury never has been outgamed.

Thirty-three cars will start in 11 rows of three.

With Woodbury and Duray in the first row will be Ralph Hepburn and the other racers will take positions corresponding to their qualifying speeds.

To qualify for the race it was necessary to go 10 miles at a speed of more than 90 miles an hour. Thirty-five cars measured up to the qualification tests but the American Automobile Association rules allow only 33 to start and the two slowest were eliminated. Nine others who did not make qualification attempts were ruled off today because of tardiness in placing their cars in readiness.

The town is filled with visitors. It is impossible to obtain a hotel room, without previous reservation. Cars are here bearing license tags from California to Maine and the overwhelming number of visitors has led many to believe a record crowd of 150,000 will see the race.

Following is the official line-up as determined by qualification trials. Cars driven by Bill Lindau and Frank Sweigert, which were not qualified may be substituted if any car is withdrawn.

Rifle Tryouts Set for Sunday

Tryouts for a civilian team to represent Georgia at the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, in September, will be held Sunday morning on the rifle range at Fort McPherson.

This will mark the first time in 15 years that the state has sent a civilian team to the matches. Heretofore the team has come from the national guard, from the army and from other military organizations.

Firing will begin at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning. It is expected that entries will be on hand from Georgia Tech, North Georgia Agricultural college at Dahlonega, the Atlanta Rifle Club, and from Macon. Any member of an R. O. T. C. unit or established rifle club may compete.

Contract of Tulane Coach Is Extended

New Orleans, May 29.—(AP)—The contract of Mercer Beasley as tennis coash at Tulane university has been extended two years, officials of the institution announced today. Beasley produced the southern conference singles and doubles champions this year.

About Frank Speer, Pa Stribling, Bill Ruff, Fuzzy Woodruff and Bob Jones:

Frank Speer, former Georgia Tech tackle, will have the refusal of a contract from "Pa" Stribling to become a professional fighter. This was the word from the elder Stribling before he left Atlanta Wednesday.

"Pa," in pushing his plans to secure a stable of fighters, also talked with Bill Ruff, the big bruiser discovered by "Tubby" Walton in the Georgia hills.

Stribling plans to return to Atlanta June 19 when the Atlanta Athletic Club will stage its next amateur boxing show. Then he will have a chance to see his two fighting prospects in action, for Speer boxes Ruff that night in an amateur setting.

If the former Yellow Jacket tackle and the native son look like real heavyweight comers they will hear from the master showman of the provinces.

The Golden Fleece.

"Pa" Stribling long has been nursing a dream of discovering an Atlanta boy who could make good in heavyweight ranks. He prefers a college athlete, naturally.

A college athlete already is well known through his achievements in intercollegiate sport and half the battle is won when his name means something.

Until the elder Stribling gets his man, he will keep looking. But he thinks from all the information in hand that Frank Speer would fill the bill.

Fated.

College men, especially football players, never have gone far in boxing. Sully Montgomery was one of the best known. He doffed his Centre college football uniform and for a time was hailed as the next champion. But he fell short and dropped back into the ranks of the third raters.

Nearer home, Addison Exum Warren, of North Carolina, still is trying to get past the last hurdle between the preliminary class and the real contenders. He has made some money with his gloves, but has not yet had a shot at bigger things.

Whether there is any hidden reason, physical or psychological, why a football player cannot succeed as a boxer some deep thinker can solve. It may be that Frank Speer will have the chance to upset the theory, anyhow.

Fish-Unconscious.

Fuzzy Woodruff, face firm and browned after seven weeks in Coden, Ala., is back at his desk again writing sports features for the Atlanta Journal.

The visit to Coden changed the whole outlook of Fuzzy's existence. Those who have known him were shocked to hear him announce flatly: "I never expect to look at another order of fish as long as I live." Fuzzy's chief gastronomical weakness for years has been fish, especially mackerel.

It seems that Fuzzy has been catching and eating fish for the greater part of seven weeks and the whole piscatorial cycle has backfired on him.

The tough feature of Fuzzy's return is that his articles, written daily from Coden, bringing a breath of salt air and the swish of a tautened line to the laborers in the brickyards of the city, necessarily have been cut off.

Calamity.

He who grows facetious over the theft of Bob Jones' golf clubs in New York is speaking out of turn. That is more or less of a calamity.

Golf clubs are not bought; they grow. One, especially a great golfer, gets so thoroughly into the feel of his favorite clubs that the fraction of an inch warp in a shaft or a loosened grip seems like a major alteration.

And any new club at all, even one copied with the painstaking zeal of a devoted professional clubmaker, would feel bulky and unresponsive for many days.

Ouch!

Reports that Max Abelson has just bought a new Lincoln enclosed car are untrue. Matchmaker Abelson just finished promoting his first open air boxing show at Spiller field and emerged with a violent headache when he added up the money in the cash drawer.

However, Matchmaker Max believes that those who attended the show were delighted with the bouts and with the betting. He anticipates twice as big a gate next month at his second outdoor show.

Tentative plans for the summer include the appearance of Sammy Mandell on one card and Young Stribling on another. Stribling's opponent will be Johnny Risko, Abelson hopes. He wants to present W. L. against real opposition just once and see just how well Atlanta likes boxing.

'RUBE' ROBERSON IS RETIRED

Yale-Georgia Ticket Is Artistic Souvenir

The University of Georgia is paying its respects to the Yale football game next October. Already Dr. S. V. Sanford and Charles E. Martin, general and colonel, respectively of the Red and Black athletic staff, have had printed the artistic souvenir tickets for the game, October 12, that will dedicate the new stadium.

The tickets are unique. Nothing of the nature has been attempted in the south before within recent memory. A photograph of one of them is shown above superimposed on a view of the last Red and Black football team in action.

The ticket is printed on gilt pasteboard of very heavy texture. The curled ribbon extending between the heads of the two Bulldogs is red and the lettering "Sanford Field Stadium" is in black. The word Yale is printed in Yale blue.

At the lower left of the face of the ticket is a drawing of Connecticut Hall, the Yale building erected in 1752, while on the right is a view of Old College that was built in Athens from the original blueprints of the older structure.

Elaborate dedication ceremonies are being planned which will start 15 minutes before the whistle blows.

Athens merchants are solidly behind the Georgia Athletic Association in preparing to entertain the enormous crowd of old grads and the entire army of football fans from Atlanta and surrounding cities that will attend. The spectacle of a Yale football team so far from New England soil has never before been presented on any gridiron.

The ticket is just a criterion of the way Athens plans to stage this game.—ED DANFORTH.

Brief's Case Presages Cracker-Vol Feud

By Ralph McGill.

From all an innocent ear can hear while wandering around the baseball places, it does appear that the rather elderly baseball gentleman, Anthony (Bunny) Brief, is about to bring about ill-feeling between the Crackers and the Vols. If, indeed, he hasn't already done so.

Dear me! The Southern association has been without a feud for so long. It will be positively exciting. There may be smiles to be seen, but there is a great deal of synthetic Pagliacci stuff in any racket. They smile that they may not curse.

There was a very strong suspicion in Atlanta baseball quarters that there was some one in the woodpile when Jim Poole, who cost the Crackers $7,500, was let out as a free agent and promptly signed by the Vols after they had refused to claim him on waivers, saying they would have none of him at any price.

There was quite a holler about those tactics in the Cracker office. The Nashville office came right back, saying that they did not tamper with Mr. Jim Poole and that they took him as an emergency measure, their first baseman at the time being too terrible for anything.

SUSPICION.

It now develops that the Nashville office has been very, very suspicious of the Crackers and of Mr. Wilbur Good, the taciturn and silent manager of the Atlanta baseball club. Consequently the Crackers are inclined, more than ever, to view the Poole case as a relatiatory move on the part of the Volunteers.

Mr. Claude (Blinky) Horne, writing in the Nashville prints, guffaws at the proposed measure which Mr. R. J. Spiller will present at the next league meeting, providing that no free agent may be signed after he has been released following failure to be claimed at the waiver price.

It is then charged that Wilbur Good is harboring letters which he received from Bunny Brief. Bunny Brief was sold to the Vols. Before that he was sold to the Crackers. The national office upheld the Vol claims.

WILBUR, THE VILLAIN.

Bunny Brief refused to report. The Vols swear to this day, by Jim, that the reason he didn't was because Wilbur Good wrote him that he would fix it up for him to come to Atlanta.

Mr. Horn makes the following salty insinuations regarding the Brief matter:

"When Mr. Spiller introduces his bill to make it a heinous crime to sign a bloke liberated by another Dixie club, he might also introduce some of the letters which have been written by Wilbur Good to Bunny Brief up in Travers City, Mich. There has always been a stout suspicion that the Crackers were tampering with Bunny Brief. The Crackers filed a claim with John Farrell about it. They said Bunny Brief promised to sign with Atlanta. They said Jack Lelivelt, the Milwaukee boss, promised to peddle Bunny Brief to the Crax. But in the meantime those Vols had closed a deal involving nearabouts $8,000 for Bunny Brief, Spence Adams, Vance Graeber and Roy Sanders.

"Mr. Brief has been a long time gone from Sulphur Dell. Like Achilles he sulked in his tent. Pants Rowland wheedled and coaxed and cajoled him in vain. He stayed in Michigan. He filled empty gas tanks instead of filling the dell with base hits. So those Vols decided to forget about Bunny Brief. They told the Crackers to dicker for him. They said the Crax could have him if they would pay Milwaukee $4,200 for Mr. Brief's services. Rell Spiller says that is too much jack. Of cougse it is. But that is what Milwaukee charged those Vols. Mr. Spiller says the proposition is not fair. Neither is his scheme to black list a hard-working ball tosser just because he has been declared a free agent.

"Maybe Wilbur Good still has the letters he received from Bunny Brief. Maybe he kept them just like Hub Leonard did the missive which got Ty

Racer Is Injured At Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—(AP) Phil Pardee, of Los Angeles, who qualified the car originally prepared for Ralph De Palma in 23rd position for Thursday's 500-mile race, definitely was put out of the race tonight when he hit the wall on the northeast turn of the track while practicing.

VETS 'STORM' FORREST HILLS

Argonne forest is just a memory today, as American Legionnaires tackle another offensive when the annual field day opens at Forrest Hills Golf Club. Machine guns will be replaced by mashies, tee boxes will displace the G. I. cans, but the carnage today promises to be little less than it was during that great drive 11 years ago.

Some half a hundred golfers will tee off this morning in qualifying rounds for the medal tournament. Qualifying scores will determine handicaps and prizes will be presented on the basis of net scores. Low and high medalists also will receive trophies.

While all this is going on the members who do not care to indulge in golf will be tossing horseshoes, playing tennis or bridge. Four tables of bridge already have been reserved and it is probable that twice this number will enter the tournament.

Pegs are set and there are enough horseshoes on hand to furnish the whole army with good luck. This game of pitching equine footgear is not a major sport around these parts, but there are sufficient entries in the tournament to insure some competition.

At high noon the only sport which will be indulged in by all the members takes place. The barbecue which will be served under the watchful eye of Forrest Hill, big boss at the course and chef supreme.

After all the daylight festivities are over those who are still able to stand upon their two legs will have an opportunity to dance the hours of darkness away.

SMITHIES BOW TO ATHENS, 2-1

T. H. S. Loses in Title Game at Athens—Double Beats Purple.

Athens, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The Red and White of Athens High laid claim to the southern prep baseball championship here Wednesday afternoon by defeating Tech High, of Atlanta, in a gruelling battle, 2 to 1.

The Smithies, having one of the best records in years behind them, played the game of their lives, but fate seemed to be against them. They got plenty of men on the bases, but that necessary punch was not there at the crucial moment.

Playing heads up ball, except on one or two occasions, the local high fought a tenacious battle and would not yield the margin obtained in the third inning.

Things looked like a Smithie breakaway in the second stanza, when the bases were loaded with none one. Joe Chandler, veteran second sacker, led off with a single, and Lefty Hamilton, winning twirler, hit the next two up. Hammond and Hutt, but Chandler was forced at home as Morris lived at first on a fielder's choice. Mable fanned and Davenport flied to center to end the chance.

They made another menacing threat in the sixth when Mott and Whitley singled in succession to begin the inning and Chandler laid down a perfect sacrifice to advance them a base. Hamilton tightened up, however, and Hammond and Hutt popped up to end the frame.

A long sacrifice to left by Daven-

Dundee Given $10,000 Decision

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Joe Dundee, world's welterweight boxing champion, today won his battle against the Wisconsin Boxing Club of Milwaukee to recover $10,000, guaranteed him for his services against Pinky Mitchell in 1927.

Dundee was guaranteed that amount for fighting Mitchell at Milwaukee, but in the sixth round the fight was stopped by Victor Manhardt, a member of the Wisconsin State Athletic commission, who charged Dundee was not trying. His guarantee was held up and placed in the hands of the state commission.

Today a superior court jury returned a verdict for the champion, directing payment by the boxing club, which promoted the fight.

Radice Captures Batting Honors

Richmond, Va., May 29.—(AP)—Radice, flashing second sacker of the University of Maryland baseball team, captured individual batting honors of the Tri-State league of the Southern conference with an average of .432 for the season, 1929, figures of Robert Harper, Richmond, league statistician, released today, show.

Dudley's Arm Eases Robby's Tired Mind

By William J. Dunn.

New York, May 29.—(United News.)—After two months of concentrated hard luck, Uncle Wilbert Robertson, genial manager of the Brooklyn Robins, has finally got a break.

Uncle Wilbert sat on a bench in the Brooklyn dugout at the Polo grounds today and watched Clise Dudley, the Brooklyn rookie, pitch his third straight victory in eight days—his third victory in the three games he has started this year.

Early in the season the Brooklyn management decided that Young Dudley needed a little more experience before making his major league debut and arrangements were under way to ship him to the minors. Dudley, however, became ill and his transfer was postponed pending his recovery.

HITS HIS STRIDE.

A little more than a week ago Dudley reported again expecting a ticket to the bushes. Instead, Robinson, faced with a dearth of pitching material, allowed him to start a game against New York at Ebbets field.

The result was surprising to everyone, uncle Wilbert most of all. Dudley pitched a great game, holding the Giants to nine hits and to two runs.

As a reward Robinson took him to Philadelphia and started him against the Phillies on May 25. He returned another nine-hit game, winning, 5 to 3, and showing such promise that Robbie decided to postpone his transfer indefinitely.

Today he started against the Giants again, held them to three hits and turned in a 4-to-1 victory. Only the home run Freddy Lindstrom hit in the fifth inning saved the Giants from a shutout.

One reason Robbie is sure Dudley is going to continue his winning ways is the excellent control the youngster has displayed. In his three full games he has issued but two bases on balls, one against the Phils and the second today. He has struck out four men.

JUST IN TIME.

Dudley could not have appeared at a more opportune time for the Dodgers. Crippled by the illness of Dazzy Vance, Del Bissonette and others, the outlook for the Flatbush nine has been anything but rosy.

Vance, according to information received today, is suffering from inflammation of the bladder and must undergo treatment before he can return to his work of earning the $25,000 salary that makes him the highest paid pitcher in baseball. He will be unable to accompany the Dodgers on their first western trip.

Dudley, who stands six feet two inches and weighs 180, came to Brooklyn from Atlanta, of the Southern association, where he won 11 and lost 16 games last year. He is 24 years old and comes from Lake City, S. C.

Soldier Gets Try With Brooklyn Team

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Corporal Paul Dubier, soldier pitcher, has been given a month's furlough so he can make the next western trip with the Brooklyn Robins with whom he signed last Saturday.

Doctor Orders Vance To Rest

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Dazzy Vance, premier pitcher of the National league, was ordered by his physician today to take a long rest, which will preclude the possibility of his accompanying the Robins on the impending western trip, officials of the Brooklyn club announced tonight. Complications following influenza from which the star right-hander suffered two weeks ago were given as the reasons for his enforced idleness.

ENTRIES CLOSE SOON FOR MEET

Entries for the junior and boys' sectional tournament, which starts next Monday on the courts at East Lake, will close Saturday at 12 o'clock, it was announced Thursday by Jack Mooney, who has charge of the entries.

Entry for the tournament can be made at Spalding's on north Broad street and as many players as can possibly do so are requested to play in the tournament. Winners and runners-up, if they so desire, can compete in the national championships to be held at Chicago later in the summer.

Drawings will be made Saturday afternoon at Spalding's and will be announced Sunday morning.

Several prominent of the younger tennis players of this sectional have entered and among them are: Jimmy Halverstadt, Judge Beaver, Wilmer Hines, Bill Reeses, Len Bracewell, Hall Powell, Frank Morrison and S. R. Bridges, who will play in the junior division. In the boys' play will be George Boynton, Ross Cheshire, Billy Glenn and Billy Sterne. Play will begin Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

This tournament is one of many scheduled for the south this summer. An invitation tournament will be held from June 6-9, at Fort Benning, in which five Atlantans, Jack Mooney, Bryan Grant, Berry Grant, Jack Simpson and Harry Gault will play and also many other outstanding players of the south.

The city tennis tournament is slated for the Atlanta Tennis club courts on June 22 and many local players will be entered. The championship of the Carolinas will be contested at Greenville the week of June 10, and the Middle Atlantic tournament opens on June 17.

New League Opens Season on Saturday

Four clubs—Fayetteville, Palmetto, Newnan and Jonesboro—will begin play Saturday in the newly formed Flint River league. Newnan will open at Palmetto and Jonesboro at Fayetteville.

Each of the four teams is strong and capable of playing a fast brand of baseball. Opening day stunts have been planned in the two cities where games will be played and large attendance is expected.

Bob's Famous Clubs Found in Garage

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The New York American tomorrow declares that Bobby Jones' lost golf clubs were found in a garage.

The clubs were left by three small boys who had tried to sell them to the garage foreman. They carried the clubs into the garage Tuesday afternoon a short time after they were taken from a car parked a few blocks away. They disappeared when someone came into the garage and the clubs lay in a corner forgotten until the foreman, John Hope, read in an early edition of The American that Jones had lost his valuable clubs and reported the discovery to the paper.

VETERAN ASKS REST FOR ARM AS VOLS WIN

Brennan, New Hurler, Is Added—Burrus To Join Up Saturday.

Burrus Is Sold To Cracker Club

Houston, Texas, May 29.—(AP)—Dick Burrus, first baseman, who threatened to quit baseball if the Houston, Texas league club, sent him to Danville of the Three-Eye league, has been reinstated and sold to Atlanta of the Southern association, it was announced today.

By Ralph McGill.

John Henry (Rube) Roberson, the patriarch of pitchers, came off the hill at Spiller field Wednesday afternoon and said to Manager Bill Good, "Well, Bill, I guess the old arm needs a rest."

And so came about one of the most surprising moves of the present baseball season. Rube Roberson, valiant left-hander, goes on the voluntary retired list for the first time in his 14 years of Southern league baseball.

Roberson was knocked out in the first inning of the Wednesday game, which the Crackers dropped to the Vols, 7 to 3. His control was all gone. The good old arm that had won three straight games in the early days of the season had lost some of its cunning and he was forced to throw up something fat for the Vol hitters in order to get it over the plate at all.

BRENNAN IN.

Don Brennan, the pitcher obtained a few days ago from Newark, the same club that sent Mike Martineck to the Crackers, took the veteran's place and took the road to Nashville with the club last night.

Brennan is expected to work in one of the games of the double header this afternoon at Nashville. Upon his showing will depend much of the future success of the club. Lack of pitching has been one of the main handicaps, that and a certain lack of sparkle in the team play generally.

Roberson is not through. He will work out for a while and have his arm treated. He will then come back for another trial with the Crackers. That, at any rate, is the present plan.

BURRUS BOUGHT.

Dick Burrus, one of the main cogs in the 1924 Cracker machine, was purchased from the Houston club Wednesday morning. He will not participate in the Nashville series, having been left behind by the club last night. He will work out at Spiller field and break into the lineup Saturday when the Crackers return for their third double header of the week with the Vols.

No disposition has been made of Martineck. He is still the property of the Newark club and will probably be returned to them when Burrus gets into the lineup. This was not confirmed, however. Cracker officials being unwilling to say what disposition would be made.

The Crackers need both games at Nashville today to reach an even status with the Vols, they having won one game of two played Tuesday and taken the Wednesday game handily.

The present week is a crucial one in Cracker history. They are but a few points out of last place and the tide, if it is to turn, should do so this week while the Vols are their opponents.

Nick Hits Homer, But Crackers Lose.

Nick Cullop, the big blond slugger, found the range of the left field stands Wednesday afternoon with his first home run of the season as a Cracker. Second up in the sixth, he whacked one of "Lefty" Willis' pitches slap into a group of republican votes in the left field stands.

It was the only glittering spot in a drab afternoon for the Atlanta Crackers. The Volunteers jumped right atop John Henry (Rube) Roberson's offerings in the first inning. They attacked him for three runs and continued on Bull Rauch, who

Rollins Elects Football Captain

Winter Park, Fla., May 29.—(AP)—Welch Fisher, of Wauchula, has been elected captain of the Rollins college football team for 1929, it was announced today by Chester Ihrig, retiring captain. He plays halfback and will be a senior next year.

In addition to being a letter man on the football squad for the last two years the captain-elect is a member of the basketball squad. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Record Stands.

It is not likely any major league team will this year surpass the run-making record of the Yanks in 1927. That year Huggins men scored 975 runs. In 1894 Boston made 1,221 runs.

DOUBLE WINS GAME.

Bill Cauthen, first baseman, slammed a stinging double to left center in the third frame with two men on, Nunnally and Maxwell, to score Athens' two runs.

The Smithies, stunned a little of course, by the setback given them, but happy none the less, have another chance at championship laurels. They play Gordon institute two games in Barnesville Friday afternoon to decide the winner of the G. I. A. A. trophy for the season.

CEDARTOWN WINS.

Cedartown, Ga., May 29.—Cedartown won the third straight game from Talladega here today in 10 innings, 3 to 2. The game was a real pitchers' battle between Chitwood and Coker.

Cedartown played splendid ball and made five double plays.

RUBBERNECKS LOSE.

Gadsden, Ala., May 29.—Washington turned back the Gadsden Rubbernecks with only six hits and Anniston broke a losing streak with a 6-3 victory here Wednesday.

The Nobles found Hockette for 11 safeties and took an early lead that Gadsden could never overcome.

A ninth-inning rally netted only two tallies and the Nobles easily had the best of the contest from start to finish. Every man on the Anniston team hit with the exception of Washington.

CHAMPS WIN, 6-3.

Carrollton, Ga., May 29.—The Carrollton champs defeated Lindale, 6 to 3, in a fast game here today by hitting home runs with men on bases. Patton drove out a homer in the third with two on and Freedman followed suit in the fifth with one on.

Lindale scored twice on three hits in the first, then Lacy tightened up and allowed only three more hits in eight innings, the visitors' run in the third being unearned.

Qualifying Starts In Club Tourneys

By Dick Hawkins.

A goodly number of cup-hunters will haul out their tournament clubs at Capital City today for qualifying in the first match play tournament of the season. The governing board trophy is at stake in the play.

Players will be allowed two days to qualify, then the contestants will be divided into flights of 16 and all play will be under club handicaps. Players with lower handicaps will give opponents three-fourths of the difference between their handicaps. All matches in all flights will be over the 18-hole route.

With qualifying finished on June 1, contestants will have ample time to play each of their matches. First contests must be finished by June 5, second matches by June 8, third by June 12 and the finals by June 16.

Howard Beckett, professional and big boss of the works at Capital City, is attending the Southeastern P. G. A. meeting in Birmingham and will not see the beginning of the first tournament of the year, but little Willie Livingston will be a capable substitute.

EAST LAKE TOURNEY.

While their friends at Capital City are pursuing elusive par in the Governing Board tournament, East Lake golfers will begin qualifying Friday for the Latham and Atkinson trophy.

They will be allowed two days to complete qualifying rounds then the usual proceedure will be followed in dividing the group into flights of 16 players. Qualifying will be from scratch and all matches will be played under club handicaps.

Following the qualifying rounds on Friday and Saturday contestants will be given until the night of June 6 to complete play in the first round matches. Only two days are allowed for the second round but the semi-finals will cover a period of five days. From the 13th to the 15th will be consumed by the finals. It is probable that at least four flights will participate.

BRIEF CASE STARTS ROW

Cobb and Tris Speaker fired. Aw, you remember all that. If Wilbur Good has those letters he ought to get up and read them aloud. They might be interesting reading."

All that, of course, will make the Crackers very indignant indeed. They are very poor letter writers. Mr. Wilbur Good is a notoriously poor correspondent. Mr. Good has not been writing Mr. Bunny Brief at all. In fact he would have nothing to write about unless it was to talk over the good old days when they were both in the association.

VOLS MAD.

But the Vols are all in a temper. They insist that there must have been some sort of shenanigans or the Milwaukee slugger would not have chosen to swing a gasoline pump handle instead of a Nashville baseball bat.

Mr. R. J. Spiller and Wilbur Good, outraged innocents, choose to laugh off the Nashville charges as being extremely silly and entirely without basis.

Maybe the old league will perk up yet. At any rate the Vols are in there leveling to beat the Crackers.

"Middle Three."

The first championship of the newly formed "Middle Three" was won by Rutgers over Lehigh and Lafayette in track and field.

Earnshaw Hurls A's Back Into Win Column—Yanks Bow To Nats, 8-3.

Boston, May 29.—George Earnshaw's pitching set the Athletics back in the winning track today, and the Philadelphia team gained a 7-to-1 victory over the Red Sox.

Earnshaw allowed only six hits. The visitors' hits off MacFayden were not numerous but were timely.

Field of 13 Named For $25,000 Race

Dr. Freeland, Chestnut Oak and Other Leading Three-Year-Olds Will Go To Post.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Thirteen of the smartest three-year-olds in the east have been named to start tomorrow in the fifty-fourth running of the Withers—the one-mile forerunner of the rich Belmont stake—at Belmont park.

Although attracting practically every leading three-year-old in training on the eastern tracks, the race has taken on the appearance of a three-horse event. Jack High, chestnut son of John P. Grier-Proscilla and owned by George D. Widener of Philadelphia, probably will go to the post a slight favorite over Blue Larkspur, E. R. Bradley's Kentucky Derby hope, and Dr. Freeland, Walter J. Salmon's Preakness winner.

A Belmont legacy from Morris Park, the Withers will have a value of more than $25,000 to the winner, whose name goes down alongside such great thoroughberds as Victorian, 1928 victor, Chance Shot, Zev, Man O' War and Sir Barton, Zev, Man O' War and Sir Barton went on from the Withers to win the Belmont stakes, which will be run June 8.

Canaan Finally Wins a Race.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Canaan, 5-year-old runner from the Lamar stock farm, has been endeavoring to win a race since last October and today he finally succeeded in the Dearborn purse at Washington park.

Canaan won his last race October 20, 1928, at Latonia. Since that time he has campaigned at Bowie, Lexington and Churchill Downs with no luck. Today, his fourth time out this season, was the first time he has finished in the money.

Over a fast mile track the Lamar stock farm color bearer whipped a field of seven veterans, leading the Royal stable's 4-year-old Blessefield to the wire by a length and a half. J. J. Greely's 6-year-old Devon was third, closing up a big gap in the stretch run. With E. Shropshire in the saddle Canaan's time for the mile was 1:39.

The Sagamore stable's Coin Collector was an easy winner of the Harlem claiming stakes—a mile gallop for 3-year-olds and upward—at Belmont park. Sun Forward, carrying the hopes of Mrs. V. Emanuel, got a poor ride from A. McKechnie but managed to get the place with S. Ross' Verdi third.

R. S. Clark's Wisdom was first home in the feature race at Churchill Downs—the Argonne hotel handicap—but honors of the day went to Jockey R. Russell, who rode three winners in succession. He was up on Colorature in the second, Pollywog in the third and Virado in the fourth.

P. G. A. TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

Classy Field Will Tee Off This Morning on Birmingham Course.

Birmingham, Ala., May 29.—(Special.)—Approximately 70 golfers, including 27 professionals, will start out Thursday morning in quest of the Southeastern Professional Golfers' Association open championship, which is being played over the Roebuck course. Thirty-six holes of medal play is scheduled for Thursday with a similar assignment for Friday, the title to go to that amateur or professional turning in the lowest score for the 72-hole route.

The field of professionals includes virtually all of the leading members of the S. E. P. G. A. and numbers several former champions, among them Charley Hall, Danny Goss and Frank Ball. Ball, though not actually champion last year, was lower professional in the annual event, which was won by Watts Gunn, star Atlanta amateur.

W. S. Moughon, Birmingham amateur, and Frank Goss, Nashville professional, won the pro-amateur bestball competition Wednesday in the preliminary skirmishing. Three all-amateur teams of Birmingham tied for low net bestball with rounds of 63 each, but the Moughon-Frank Goss team was the low pro-amateur pair with a bestball of 64. Goss, a brother of Dan Goss, Highland Park professional, thus won the $25 cash award for winning professional.

Eddie Miller, Gadsden pro, and C. Drennen, Birmingham amateur, had second low with a card of 65. Tied for third were Dan Goss, Highland Park pro, paired with Lonnie Munger, local amateur, and Sandy Woodman, Montgomery pro, paired with Gene Munger, a brother of Lonnie Munger.

The amateur delegation competing Thursday includes several first-class golfers, although it will be difficult for any of the simon-pures to step out and outscore some of the professional aces. Among the better known amateurs to start are Harry Pritchett, state amateur and southern college champion; the Mungers, Sam Perry, Jefferson county champion; Jimmy Tupper, of Nashville; Jenks Gillem, Sam Holt and others of this city.

THE PRIZES LISTED.

Low professional in the two-day play will take away a cash award of $150, second low will get $115, third will receive $85, fourth $65, fifth $50, and the next five $25 each.

Should an amateur win the championship, he will receive sterling silver in lieu of cash.

The field will tee off starting at 9 o'clock Thursday morning in three-somes, composed principally of two amateurs and one professional. They will leave at five-minute intervals, with the last group scheduled to get under way at 10:50.

Afternoon starting times will come automatically, with the lead-off pair of the morning beginning the afternoon round at 1 o'clock. This will throw the last group off at 2:55.

Among the morning pairings and starting hours are:

10—Leo K. Steiner, Jr., R. T. Wilson, Jr., and Pete Grandison, pro.
10:35—R. T. Wilson, L. F. Munger and Frank Ball, pro.

Memphis Hurler Goes to Hospital

Memphis, Tenn., May 29.—(AP)—Joe Heving, pitcher of the Memphis Southern association club, was in a hospital today under treatment for injuries to his head, while his batterymate, Joe Palm, was nursing a broken finger—casualties of yesterday's New Orleans-Memphis game in which, incidentally, the Pelicans swamped the Chickasaws, 11 to 3.

Heving was struck on the head by a thrown ball which Johnny Berger, who relieved Palm, was tossing to second base to prevent a double steal. Heving collapsed and was carried from the field. Hospital reports today indicated that he probably will be up and about in a couple of days. Palm broke a finger in sliding to a base.

Pete Gavuzzi Regains Lead

Deming, N. M., May 29.—(AP)—Pete Gavuzzi, bewhiskered Italian, with Southampton, England, as a mail address, stepped back into his former position as leader of the bunion derby today when he sped 63 miles over desert country in the 60th lap, between Las Cruces, N. M., and Deming, N. M., in 8:14:30.

The Italian overcame the lead of 42 minutes and 30 second held by Johnny Salo, Passaic (N. J.) policeman, and stepped to the front by 21 minutes and 10 seconds. Salo was third today in 9:18:10, 1 hour, 3 minutes and 40 seconds behind Gavuzzi.

Giusto Umek, of Trieste, Italy, third in elapsed time, finished second in the lap in 8:43:20 and added almost two hours to his margin over Sam Richman, New York Legionnaire, who holds fourth place.

Pete Gavuzzi, England	389:35:22
John Salo, Passaic, N. J.	389:56:32
Giusto Umek, Italy	403:53:28
Sam Richman, New York	419:42:27

Nick Cullop and his bat remained the one big hope as the club took to the Pullmans Wednesday night headed for Nashville. The fences are short there and the Crackers hope that they will get fair pitching and that Cullop will, as the boys say, bust some.

There was a more than moderate delight that the big fellow had finally got his sights adjusted. The stands stood up and cheered. That is, their occupants did.

There were some bankers there, the guests of R. J. Spiller. Bankers never like to see a home run but they cheered the four-base clout by the big fellow. R. J. Spiller invited all the bankers here for the state convention. He figured that if he went broke buying pitchers he could get one to sign a note some time later. It takes a smart man to get on what we laughingly call the good side of a banker. A lot of folks insist there isn't a good side.

BEDTIME STORY.

There is a story they tell on bankers. They do say that once upon a time there was one who had a glass eye, his right one, of which he was inordinately proud. Folks couldn't tell it from his real eye. He was refusing an applicant for a loan one day when he stopped and said, "I'll tell you what I'll do. If you'll tell me which is my glass eye I'll lend you the money."

"Because I looked into it and thought I detected a gleam of human sympathy," said the man.

At any rate the bankers, who seem to be holding a convention here, were guests at the ball game and cheered Nick Cullop.

RAUCH O. K.

Bull Rauch did himself a nice job of pitching after he went in there. He salvaged the wrecked first inning as well as could have been expected and buzzed right along, allowing but six hits in 8 2-3 innings.

Which isn't bad at all.

The Crackers were never in the ball game. They got over one run in the first inning on a double and two singles. Nick Cullop hit a home run in the sixth. Johnny Jones tripled in the ninth and scored on Archie Yelle's pinch hit, he having batted for Rauch.

The Crackers seemed to be sort of tired. It always deadens a team's ambitions to be slapped for four runs in the first inning and then run into a good left-hander. This young Mr. Willis was the second one in as many days to beat the Crackers. George Milstead did it Tuesday.

The Vols added one to their four in the fifth and then got over a couple in the ninth. It wasn't much ball game. Unless, of course, you were rooting for the Vols.

The SPORTLIGHT By Grantland Rice

Memorial Day, 1929.

Cheer while the bugles sound;
And keep the flowers spraying
Their blooms above each mound;
But when the day is over
And the long night is deep,
Remember, under clover.

Lost winds from home have found us
Through fields of poppy stain;
They whisper all around us
Of lovers in the lane;
Of twilights far behind us
That held June's ancient vow,
They brought old dreams to find us—

Our crosses lean together
With each far wind that blows,
The same in summer weather
As in the winter snows;
And no one may remember
The snowdrift or the sun,
Where June and bleak December

The bugles still are calling
And maybe tears are falling
For those who came to die;
But when the first red ember
Of starlight drifts and gleams,
Remember, oh remember,
The dead are lost to dreams.

Yes, summer crowns the mountains,
Where moon light seeks the plains;
There's music in the fountains
That leap to summer rains;
The dogwood blossoms scatter
Their snowdrift through the glen,
For us it doesn't matter,
And never will again.

For you the rose entwining
May climb the garden wall;
For you soft eyes are shining
Where summer dusk-winds call;
But what if June has found us
Who may not even know
If poppies bloom around us,

Deep where the darkness stifles
The dreams that seek our rest,
The rust is on our rifles,
The flag is on each breast;
But through each gray tomorrow
Where care and trouble creep,
Shut off from strife and sorrow

Heeney Winner In Montreal Bout

Montreal, Que., May 29.—(AP)—Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, won his first fight of his current comeback campaign from Elezear Rioux, of Montreal, on a foul in the eighth round of a boxing bout here tonight. The Anzac had everything his own way up to the time Rioux was disqualified.

Fire Destroys Memphis Arena

Memphis, Tenn., May 29.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the Memphis stadium, a fight arena, early today, and James Burke, assistant fire chief, expressed the belief that John Bruce, negro watchman, had been burned to death. The negro was not seen during the blaze and has not been located since. Cause of the blaze was not determined. It was estimated the damage would total $50,000.

HELEN REACHES FOURTH ROUND

American Girl Beats Miss Tapscott in Third Round at Paris.

Paris, May 29.—(AP)—While the last of her feminine comrades fell by the wayside, Miss Helen Wills today advanced to the fourth round of the French tennis championship in which she is defending her women's singles title.

Queen Helen had little difficulty in defeating Miss Ruth Tapscott, second ranking player of South Africa, 6-1, 6-3, but another Californian, Mrs. May Suton Bundy, was eliminated in the second round by Frau Friedleben, of Germany, 7-5, 6-1, despite a gallant effort.

This was ladies' day as far as the Americans were concerned, as none of the three male representatives still in the tournament were scheduled to play. Bill Tilden and Junion Coen, who meet tomorrow, and Francis T. Hunter, are the only remaining standard-bearers in the men's singles, while Miss Wills, with the downfall of Edith Cross, Marjorie Morrill and lastly Mrs. Bundy, now finds herself carrying the full burden of American hopes for the title she won with ease last year.

The flashy tennis shown by such players as Miss Tapscott, Elia De Alvarez, of Spain, and Frau Friedleben has indicated that Miss Wills may have to work harder for her laurels this time, but she still is a prohibitive favorite to repeat.

Georges Carpentier Back in America

Georges doesn't say that he will enter the ring. He contents himself with declaring that if there is any easy money in sight along that line he will be glad to take advantage of any offers that may come his way.

Davis Cup Team Meets Cuba Today

Richards Says U. S Players Will Be Extended To Win Final Match From Cubans.

By Vincent Richards.
Professional Tennis Champion of the World.

New York, May 29.—The last obstacle in the American zone path of the United States Davis cup team in its drive toward the challenge round will be encountered tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at Detroit, where the Americans meet the Cuban team in the final round of the ties on this side of the Atlantic.

In view of the surprises the team has met in its matches to date, against Canada and Japan, it is not likely it will take the Cubans any too lightly. I am inclined to believe Captain Fitz-Eugene Dixon will have his men keyed up to a higher pitch, and that no possible chance will be taken of having the players come to grief through over-confidence or lack of preparation.

There is reason for the Americans to take this final match with all seriousness, for Cuba has the strongest team it has put on the Davis cup field. In Gustave Vollemer Cuba has a player who defeated both Ignacio Dex La Borbolla and Ricardo Tapio in the recent tie at Havana with Mexico, and I know that John Hennessey and John Van Ryn have a wholesome respect for his game.

Borbolla could not get a set from him, and while the Mexican is not a world beater, any man who can take him over at 6-3, 6-3, 8-6 is no set up.

OVER-CONFIDENCE.

The defeat of Mexico by Cuba has an irony of fate. Everyone thought the Mexicans were sure to win the tie, and the Mexicans themselves were so confident that they refused to accept a default when Cuba could not get a team together to go to Mexico, as it was scheduled to have done.

Rather than accept a default, and to get in some practice, the Mexicans went to Havana and then lost by four matches to one. They dropped all four singles and the only victory they scored was in the doubles. My old friend Robert Kinsey, who formerly ranked in our first ten, represented Mexico in the doubles to score this lone triumph.

Mullen Postpones Lightweight Bout

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Difficulty with federal revenue tax collectors today caused Promoter Jim Mullen to indefinitely postpone the 10-round match between Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, and Louis "Kid" Kaplan, former featherweight titleholder, scheduled for Friday night.

The bout was set for Mills stadium as the opening show of the Chicago outdoor season, but with no championship involved.

Mullen decided on the postponement after two tax collectors, armed with distraint warrants, planted themselves in the box office to collect $44,000 said to be due the government in unpaid taxes.

Mullen said the dispute with the revenue department dates back seven years when he conducted a boxing show to raise political funds. No tax was paid and none was collected, Mullen said, because he was under the impression the collector of internal revenue had waived the tax.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Export buying that totaled more than 3,000,000 bushels and that included hard winter wheat from the United States, helped to lift wheat values today. The maximum advance for wheat future deliveries here was 1 5-8c bushel, but efforts to realize profits on the bulge in prices wiped out most of the grain.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c higher. Corn closed unchanged to 5-8c down, oats at 1-2c decline to 1-4c gain, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

Much talk was heard today that, although the harvest in the main part of the United States winter wheat belt is hardly a fortnight off now, nevertheless, hot winds, Hessian fly damage and such causes could yet play havoc with otherwise splendid crop prospects. It was also asserted that the generally favorable outlook for large yields had been over-exploited, and that rallies are at present in order. On the rallies today, however, commission houses became free sellers, one reason being a desire to minimize open risks during the holiday tomorrow.

Selling of corn against purchase of wheat had a depressing effect on the corn market. Besides, high temperatures over the corn belt were regarded as favorable for germination. Corn export bids via Montreal were about 2c out of line. Oats were kept easy by month-end liquidation sales of May holdings.

Provisions firmed up on account of scattered buying.

Weather of Week Was Unfavorable For Cotton Growth

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The weekly weather and crop report issued today by the department of agriculture for the week ended yesterday said that conditions continued most unfavorable for cotton.

Except the latter part of the week, temperatures in the east were too low for good growth, especially at night, though conditions improved toward the close of the period. Field work made generally good advance the first half of the week, but the last few days were too showery, with the crop needing warmth and sunshine; the weather favored lice and weevil activity in the south.

West of the Mississippi river conditions were rather favorable in Arkansas and Louisiana with weekly progress mostly fair to good, though with considerable complaints of grassy fields and need of cultivation in the former state. In Oklahoma cool, wet weather continued unfavorable, with cotton late, stands mostly poor and irregular, and much still to plant and replant.

In Texas rains were beneficial in some more southern sections, but in general, it was too wet and cold; planting, replanting and cultivation were mostly at a standstill, with many reports of grassy fields in central and eastern sections and with plants turning yellow on lowlands; warm, dry weather is badly needed in both Texas and Oklahoma.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Further recovery in United States government issues, a slight easement in time money and retention of the 6 per cent call loan rate enabled isolated sections of the bond market to take courage today, but the improved tone was far from general and price averages again slipped into new low ground.

The retreat of the composite figure for the rails, industrials and utilities on which the general average is dated began a week ago, falling from 94.75 recorded on May 22, to 93.99 at this afternoon's close. In this interval the charge for 60 to 90-day paper has held from 9 to 9 3-4 per cent, the highest in years. But today it ranged between 8 3-4 and 9. Not since May 10 had the rate been below the latter figure.

Convertibles accounted for a generous slice of the total transactions. Atchison 4 1-2s, leaders in the stock option group this week, were traded to the extent of $1,225,000, par value, but sold off for a net loss of 1 1-2. American Telephone 4 1-2s, heavily bought, mounted 1 1-4.

Rails again claimed a large share of the notice in the remainder of the list. Quotations showed less violent changes than in the Monday and Tuesday markets and fewer new lows appeared, although this probably indicated lack of interest as much as a return of confidence. The best bought rails of better grade included Chesapeake & Ohio refunding 4 1-2s, Chicago & Alton 3 1-2s, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific refunding 4s, Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, Great Northern 7s and Oregon Short Line refunding 4s, the last named fall due this year.

Few points of interest developed elsewhere, although some of the speculative industrials dipped sharply. Schulco 6 1-2s, series A, lost 2 1-4, while the series B 6 1-2s were down 8 1-2 on the sale of only three bonds. Wickwire Spencer Steel first 7s fell 4 1-2.

Foreign bonds, especially some of the German and South American obligations, improved more than a point. Bonds in this group, which is at a low level offering high yields, were generally steadier.

Treasury 3 3-4s, up virtually a point, made the best showing in the United States government list. Close behind them, in size of advance, were the Treasury 4s which picked up 7-8. The Liberty 3 1-2s were weak and again went into new low ground for the year.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—B. O. Cobb, chairman of the board of the Allied Power & Light Corporation, and president of the Commonwealth Power Corporation, has been elected chairman of the newly organized Commonwealth and Southern Corporation. Thomas W. Martin, president of the Southeastern Power & Light Co., has been elected president of the new organization.

The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, formed by the same interests behind United Corporation, has acquired large blocks of the common stocks of the Commonwealth Power Corporation, the Southeastern Power & Light Co., and the Penn-Ohio Edison Co., forming one of the largest public utility holding companies in the country.

Among the directors of the new corporation are C. E. Groesbeck, president of the Electric Bond & Share Company; George H. Howard, president of the United Corporation, of Delaware; Alfred L. Loomis, chairman of the American Superpower Corporation, and vice president of Bonbright & Co., Inc.; Sidney Z. Mitchell, chairman of the Electric Bond & Share Co.; Ray P. Stevens, president of the Penn-Ohio Edison Co., and of the Allied Power & Light Corporation, and Landon K. Thorne, president of Bonbright & Co., Inc., and president of the American Superpower Corporation.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—A 100 per cent stock dividend has been approved by stockholders of the General American Investment Co., Inc. They ratified a proposal to increase the authorized common stock from 200,000 shares to 1,500,000, part of which will provide for the dividend, and for the offering of 400,000 additional shares at $15 in the ratio of one share for each share held.

Stockholders also approved redemption of the outstanding $1,500,000 preferred stock, which is callable at $120.

Cambridge, Mass., May 29.—(AP)—For the third time since last November John A. Otley, of Waverly, Neb., student at Harvard law school, has obtained a license to marry Miss Ruth Miller, of Bellwood, Pa., senior at Boston university. He returned the first two licenses without explanation.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK.

New York, May 29.—The cottonseed oil market was dull with a pre-holiday feeling in evidence. The undertone held steady owing to a let-up in July liquidation and scattered buying encouraged by the steadiness of lard and the unfavorable weekly weather report, although the full effect of the latter was minimized by the reaction in cotton. Sales 2,700 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot 9.45; July closed 9.62; September 9.88; October 9.95; December 9.86; January 9.85.

NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, May 28.—Cottonseed oil futures were fairly steady today, excessive rains inland and firmer lard having a supporting influence. Prime summer yellow closed at 8.55, down 5 points and prime crude closed at 7.62½ to 7.87½. Futures closed steady: June 8.60; July 8.65; September 8.85; October 8.87; December 8.62.

Rubber.

New York, May 29.—Rubber futures closed firm: July 21.50; September 21.80; December 22.30.

General List Reflects Pre-Holiday Evening Up

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Violent advances in a few high priced public utilities featured an otherwise irregular curb market today. Mixed price movements in the general list reflected the usual pre-holiday evening up of speculative accounts. Retention of the 6 per cent call money rate in the face of heavy holiday currency demands was an encouraging development. But Wall Street anticipates several upward flurries in rates next month when there is an unusually heavy turnover of funds.

American Superpower issues were the spectacular features. The A stock soared nearly 22 points to a new high record at 184 and then slipped back to 175. While the B stock closed 18 points higher at 180. Electric Investors jumped 13 points and retained all but 2 points of its gain.

Southeastern Power and Penn-Ohio Edison reached new high ground on the announcement of tentative terms for the exchange of those issues for the stock of the newly organized Commonwealth and Southern Corporation. Electric Bond and Share and United Gas Improvement showed moderate gains.

Farm implement shares were weak in sympathy with the break in those issues on the "big board." Masesy Harris dropped more than 14 points to a new low at 52. Minneapolis-Moline Plow broke below 40 for the first time.

Weakness also developed in some of the radio stocks. Zenith broke nearly 9 points to a new low at 27 5-8 and then rebounded to 32, following publication of a report showing earnings of $2.77 a share in the year ended April 30. Grigsby Grunow fell more than 3 points but Hazeltine showed independent strength.

Club Aluminum, the market price of which was nearly cut in half yesterday, fell about 4 more points today to a new low at 8 7-8 on the announcement that a suspension of dividends was likely. Among the many other issues to break into new low ground were American Department Stores, Celanese preferred, General Laundry Machinery, Hiram Walker, Merchanthaler, Rainbow Luminous Products and United Shoe Machinery.

Oils were rather sluggish, due to another large increase in crude oil output last week. Vacuum showed independent strength with a gain of more than 2 points.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Unfavorable weather and crop news was reflected by early advances in the cotton market, but evidently failed to stimulate any general or aggressive buying and prices later weakened under pre-holiday realizing or liquidation. October sold off from 18.74 to 18.48, and closed at the lowest, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 12 to 25 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 3 points. There was some selling on relatively easy cables, but the offerings were very readily absorbed by buying on reports of very heavy rains in Texas and expectations of bullish features in the report of the weather bureau. Prices soon worked up to net advances of 5 to 8 points with July selling at 18.54 and December at 18.85. The weekly report, however, was either rather less unfavorable than expected or had been discounted, and failed to stimulate more aggressive buying. This combined with the market's apparent indifference to moderate estimates of the increase in acreage, confirmation of the early rain reports from Texas, and some unfavorable private crop advices based upon recent weather conditions in the southwest, had a discouraging influence which, no doubt, accounted for some of the selling that followed.

Liquidation of July contracts and some selling of July against purchases of late months supposed to be for trade accounts had a tendency to unsettle the late market. July led the decline selling off to 18.33, or 25 points net lower, while December at 18.62, showed a net decline of 16 points, and March at 18.78, a net loss of only 12 points. Closing quotations were the lowest of the day on most positions.

Three private reports were issued on acreage prospects, one of which pointed to an increase of 2.6 per cent, while another made it 3 per cent and a third placed it at 3.2 per cent. One of these reports also estimated the condition of the crop at 70.9 as of May 21. At this time last year private condition reports ranged from 67.0 to 72.8 and averaged 69.2 per cent. Much of the day's trading was attributed to the closing out of accounts in preparation for the holiday tomorrow.

U. S. port stocks 1,109,022.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET EASY.

New Orleans, May 29.—(AP)—After an early advance of 6 to 9 points the cotton market turned easy later today on a bearish view of the weekly weather and crop summary and selling pressure on the July position in New York, which exerted a sympathetic influence here. The lows of the day were reached in late trading when October sold at 18.42, compared with 18.66, the day's high and 18.58, yesterday's closing quotation. The option closed at the lowest with the general market closing steady at net declines of 14 to 21 points.

The market opened steady despite lower Liverpool cables than expected, first trades showing gains of 2 to 5 points. Prices continued to advance for a time after the start under a moderate demand stimulated by the continued rainy weather in the belt, July selling up to 18.67, October 18.66 and December 18.78, or 6 to 9 points above the previous close.

When the weekly weather and crop summary was issued, the first construction placed on it was bearish and resulted in a break of 17 to 19 points from the highs. July sold down to 18.47; October 18.48 and December 18.75. A further study of the weekly report, however, caused traders to revise their earlier views and the market recovered all but 4 to 7 points of the loss on rebuying by early sellers.

In late trading the market weakened again in sympathy with the decline of the July option there. The whole list eased to new lows right at the end and final prices were at the bottom with July 18.42 and December 18.52, or 24 to 27 points down from the top.

Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Although credit was appreciably easier today, trading on the stock market lagged at the slowest pace since mid-April and efforts to continue yesterday's rally were thwarted by pre-holiday liquidation and a bear drive in the agricultural equipment issues. Total sales fell below 3,000,000 shares.

The credit situation was regarded as somewhat less ominous, as it is estimated that the market value of listed stocks has shrunk some $3,000,000,000 since the first of the month, which has probably released enough funds to help the money market through June. The month's requirements for interest, dividends, tax payments and new financing are estimated at around $2,500,000,000, however, and a tight pinch for funds is regarded as unavoidable, barring an extremely unlikely change of front by the federal reserve.

Call money was in ample supply to meet the requirements of today's quiet market and the official rate held at 6 per cent for the fifth successive session, although it was shaded to 5 in the outside market. Time money rates, which have been mounting since early in the month, turned downward, with 60-90 day maturities loaning at 8 3-4 to 9 per cent, as compared to 9 1-4 yesterday.

Although holiday requirements failed to tighten the money market today, contrary to rather general expectations, bankers whose predictions of higher money have thus far failed to materialize this week, confidently forecast higher rates by Friday, or early next week. Month end interest and dividend requirements are estimated at more than $400,000,000.

The directors of the New York Federal Reserve bank met today, because of the holiday tomorrow, and the reserve board met in Washington, but no change in the rediscount rate was announced.

The day's news was favorable, particularly the weekly steel trade reviews. Iron Age said there was still no evidence of a general sasonal decline, although automotive demand slackened somewhat. President Grace, of Bethlehem Steel, said second quarter earnings should equal the results of the first quarter, which set a new peacetime record. A substantial reduction of crude oil production was ordered in California.

The drive on the farm equipment issues was particularly successful in view of the reduced purchasing power resulting from the sharp break in wheat. Advance Rumely issues dropped about 16 and 19 points, the common to 31, and the preferred to 40 1-8, as contrasted to record prices earlier in the year of 104 7-8 and 119.

The rails were again well supported, in response to further excellent April earnings reports and the favorable showing of the weekly carloadings report. Atchison mounted to a record price at 220 7-8, but ran into profit taking and closed at 215 1-4; higher about 2 points net. C. & O., D. & H., Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western made the gains. Although they were not fully maintained. The last named reached a new high at 213.

Some of the utilities were well bought, American Water Works reached a record price at 103 1-2 on unconfirmed rumors that it may be made the center of a new alignment of utility companies. Commonwealth Power sold up 14 points to a record price at 188 1-2 on announcement of the officers of the New Commonwealth and Southern Corporation showing a definite alignment with Electric Bond & Share and American Superpower, and rumors of favorable exchange offer for stock of the new company.

Aviation stocks on the other hand were markedly weak, which was attributed to disappointment over postponement of projected trans-Atlantic flights, which were expected to revive interest in these stocks. Curtiss and Wright each dropped about 7 points, the latter to a new 1929 low.

Chrysler was again under pressure, reaching a new low at 68 7-8. Superior Steel dropped 12 points to near its low of the year, and American Encaustic Tiling, Michigan Steel and Westvaco Chlorine tumbled 4 to 11 points to new lows. Radio and General Electric lost about 2 points each.

A favorable development in the commodity markets was a checking of the decline in wheat, which held steady on a bullish weather report and improved export demand. Cotton futures turned rather heavy in pre-holiday selling.

Foreign exchanges were firm, both sterling and marks showing definite improvement. The Spanish peseta, however, slipped to another 1929 low.

LEAF TOBACCO STOCKS NEAR 2 BILLION LBS.

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The department of agriculture announced today that stocks of leaf tobacco held in the United States by dealers and manufacturers on April 1 totaled 1,933,939,626 pounds, compared with 1,755,407,668 pounds on January 1 this year and 1,999,671,359 pounds on April 1, 1928.

The report shows in round numbers that the stocks of the four types of flue cured tobacco amounted to 695,000,000 pounds compared with 766,000,000 pounds January 1, and 679,000,000 on April 1, 1928. The four types of fire cured tobacco totaled 192,000,000 pounds compared with 157,000,000 pounds on January 1, an increase of 35,000,000 pounds over the previous quarter. Stocks on April 1 a year ago for these types totaled 242,000,000 pounds.

Light air cured stocks including Burley and southern Maryland amounted to 479,000,000 pounds as compared with 375,000,000 pounds on January 1 and 485,000,000 pounds on April 1 last year.

Stocks of dark air cured types, which include one-sucker type, Green River and Virginia sun cured amounted to 81,000,000 pounds. This, the department said, is an increase of approximately 7,000,000 pounds over the previous quarter and approximately 15,000,000 pounds less than was held a year ago.

Stocks of cigar filler types totaled 196,000,000 pounds, an increase of approximately 63,000,000 pounds over January 1 and about 5,000,000 pounds more than was reported April 1 last year.

Market Gossip

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—Torrential rains over east and south Texas and an unfavorable weather and crop review from whether bureau lifted prices some during early trading.

The crop has undoubtedly lost much ground recently. But due to increased acreage there is little change in the outlook.

H. & B. BEER.

New Orleans, May 29.—(Special.)—There was another deluge of rain over the greater part of Texas during the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. today, heavy to excessive at numerous points in north, central and south Texas, but the weather was better in the eastern half of the belt. Ordinarily such rains would likely occasion a sharp advance, but it is probable that the private large acreage estimates holds the market in check.

Generally fair weather is indicated for the south Atlantics, except probably local showers in extreme south portion of Florida.

ORVIS BROTHERS & CO.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—Liquidation by July longs caused the decline in today's cotton market. This selling overshadows all other considerations, momentarily.

There is talk of mill curtailment but this has been going on for some time before, it is nothing new.

The situation is quite paradoxical, with crop reports unfavorable and the market declining. Perhaps the sensible thing to do is to follow the experience of history and buy cotton on current depressions, as in most of previous years buyers in May and June have been moderately to handsomely rewarded for the risk assumed.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—The market opened steady and unchanged, advancing a few points on private reports of heavy rains in Texas but easing off again on weekly weather report, which was less bullish than had been expected. There was enough good buying on the break to steady the market, prices holding in a narrow range until very heavy liquidation of July in the last half hour of trading broke the market, closing prices at the low of the day, 15 to 25 down from yesterday's close. Unfavorable weather has somewhat scaled down acreage estimates, but the trade as a whole remain bearish, preferring to sell on all advances.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow; July 9.76; October 9.77.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—Today's market ruled quiet and was without special feature. Prices ruled firm during the early trading in response to the rather bullish weekly weather report especially in regard to conditions in Texas and Oklahoma, but eased off during the afternoon in response to the weakness of July, in which there was considerable liquidation owing to the expectation that there will be heavy tenders on July contracts.

Speculation continues hesitant owing to the expectation of a substantial acreage increase but we believe that the unfavorable weather and heavy rains of the past month will have some effect on the area planted and continue to favor the constructive side on recessions.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—Today's market witnessed a further extension of the selective buying which made its appearance yesterday and which was again encouraged by comparative ease in the call money market.

Sound investment issues continue attractive for long term holdings, particularly New York Central, B. & O., Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Erie and M. K. & T. in the more speculative group are also attractive.

Utilities show signs of revived interest and such stocks as Standard Gas & Electric, National Power & Light are deserving of attention. Strength in the coppers is a reflection of the oversold condition of this group in which Anaconda, Kennecott and Nevada offer interetsing short term possibilities.

BLYTH & CO.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—Such a pre-holiday market as that which prevailed Wednesday gives little clue to the broad trend of the immediate future.

While the rails continue to lend themselves admirably to trading in the gyrating market experienced in the past weeks, some individual situations appear to have been over-discounted as to unfavorable aspects. Goodyear and Graham-Paige are two in this category. With outstanding management and greatly increased sales, Graham-Paige offers ample opportunity for constructive participation in the efforts of this influential group.

The year 1929 purports to represent a high mark in the profits of rubber companies. Goodyear, as the leading factor in the industry and selling at less than 8 times prospective 1929 earnings, is favored in well-informed quarters as offering exceptional possibilities.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—Industrial averages lost on the day and rail averages gained. Nevertheless we think that the market acted somewhat better. In early trading bears sold International Harvester, but the rest of the list did not respond.

Many stocks then turned very strong, but the final closing was irregular due to heavy selling, attributed mainly to Durant interests and a drive against airplane issues. However, there was a steady demand for Anaconda based on a better outlook for copper and improvement in its technical position brought about by its decline from above 170.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, May 29.—(Special.)—There were strong cross currents among some of the active issues today with the result that the general market was pulled first in one direction and then in the other.

Considering the extent of the decline in the last two weeks, the action of the market is entirely unimpressive. Despite much short covering, rallies do not hold as they should. The technical position of the market has been impaired to the extent that short lines have been taken in.

The main difficulty lies in the insufficiency of public liquidation. There is very probably a large amount of deferred liquidation hanging over the market and if it does bring about a further decline to new lows, it will at least tend to keep the rallies in check and in general make for a dull and uninteresting market.

Wheat Price as Important Phenomenon in Political, Economic Picture, Seen

May Cause Unhealthy Condition in Wheat Belt as Sensational Low Level Is Reached.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, May 29.—The price of wheat is the most important single active phenomenon in the present political and economic picture. It is responsible for some conditions in areas distant from the wheat belt. The price of wheat is so low as to constitute a sensational event. Wheat at 97 cents a bushel is the lowest since pre-war conditions in 1915, when the price was 93 cents.

Moreover, 97 cents in Chicago means only about 80 cents on the farm. That is much below cost of production. Furthermore, today's cent is only about two-thirds of a pre-war cent. Consequently the present price of wheat is one for which a parallel can only be found in the calamitous early 90s when William Jennings Bryan arose.

The cause of the low price of wheat is one and one only, though the farmers are being told incorrectly that there are other causes. The sole cause is too much wheat. The total world supply is the largest that ever was. It is sensationally larger than last year's. It is sensationally larger than the average for five years. The farmers of the United States, together with the farmers of the rest of the world, have raised much more wheat than the world needs. Thereby the farmers have largely wasted their labor. That is the whole cause.

With regard to the future, the statistical information does not point toward any material change as to the wheat crop now growing. It is possible, but only barely probable, for the farm relief plan to get under way early enough to give some assistance in the way of financing the holding of some wheat off the market. It is much more probable that the farm relief plan can do nothing for this year's crop. The plan is not even enacted yet, being held up by a deadlock between house and senate.

Critical Condition.

If the present condition in wheat were the same as to all farm crops, we should have a condition similar to 1920 and almost as bad as in the chaotic days of Cleveland's administration. Fortunately, many farm products are at normal prices or above normal. There are three other important crops in which prices, while not so low relatively as wheat, are yet low. Corn, oats and cotton, while at a price that yields some profit, are seriously below normal.

The aggregate of the deficiency in returns to the farmer for his wheat, corn, cotton and oats, is estimated at not far short of a billion dollars. That billion-dollar deficit is important not only to the farmer but to every person in the country. It means a billion dollars less in purchasing power. It means a billion dollars less to be spent for automobiles, radios, and whatever else the farmer buys. It is in this sense that Wall Street, and the east generally, is just becoming aware of the price of wheat. Prices of securities on the stock exchange have fallen less sensationally than wheat but nevertheless materially. In this case, one of several reasons is that manufacturing industries are just learning they are going to get a billion dollars less from the farmer next year.

Reserve Blamed.

The public is being told from some sources in New York, and some persons are believing, that the lowering prices of securities, and the low price of wheat are both caused by the federal reserve board. It is a fact that in February and March the federal reserve board did take actions that arrested rises in the prices of securities. These actions are now of the past and will be judged on their merits by history.

With what is now happening the federal reserve board has nothing to do. The true chain of cause and effect can be stated as follows: Stocks in industries are going down partly because those industries will get less money from farmers next year. In other words stocks are going down because wheat is going down. Wheat is going down for one reason and one only, namely, too much wheat.

Affects Politics.

The low price of wheat and the consequence of that low price in other areas will have and are having an effect on politics. The drop in the price of wheat has coincided in time with the five weeks this congress has been in session. The coincidence is one of time only. There is no faintest relation between the two. Nevertheless the farmer may be led to see a relation.

It is true that no congressional primaries take place until next spring and no congressional election will take place until November of next year, 17 months from now. By that time the price of wheat and all the rest of the picture may have changed.

But the present low price of wheat is causing a dissatisfied mood which expresses itself in a critical attitude toward various phases of politics, including the tariff. This may not be logical, but it is politics and human nature. A grouch caused by one thing will express itself against other things. A tariff that might "get by" in good times may be damned in times less good. The low price of wheat encourages some farm representatives in congress to persist in an attitude of sullen resistance to things in general.

SEIZURE OF MALT ILLEGAL, JUDGE IN VIRGINIA SAYS

Richmond, Va., May 29.—(AP)—Judge Julien Gunn, of the city circuit court here today, ruled that malt is a legitimate article in interstate commerce and cannot be seized in transit by Virginia prohibition officers.

Possession of malt, however, is illegal under the state law.

Judge Gunn's decision was given in the case of the Chilton Malting Company against the commonwealth of Virginia and was accompanied by an order directing the state of Virginia to reimburse the Chilton company in the sum of $1,218.64, with interest from today. This amount represents the value of 420 sacks of malt seized by state prohibition officers, in transit, in 1925.

FIGHT AT CHURCH ENDS IN KILLING; TWO ARE HELD

Burkesville, Ky., May 29.—(AP)—Barnie McIntyre, 23, was arrested here last night as the slayer of Robert Anderson, 23, at a Methodist church in Adair county Tuesday.

McIntyre, who at first was believed to have fled to Tennessee, was charged with killing Anderson during a quarrel among four men, one of whom, Clarence Staley, 21, is in jail at Columbia, Adair county, charged with being an accessory to the crime.

DR. E. A. FULLER HEADS HOME MISSION BOARD

Reorganization of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board got under way here Wednesday with the election of Dr. Ellis A. Fuller to the presidency to succeed Dr. Luther Rice Christie. The meeting will be continued today at the Henry Grady hotel.

The Rev. Louie D. Newton, recently ordained pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, was elected vice president of the board and Dr. Samuel A. Cowan, of the Inman Park Baptist, was chosen corresponding secretary. The selection of an executive secretary and treasurer of the board is scheduled to come up this morning.

Dr. Fuller, the new president of the board, is pastor of the First Baptist church, and is one of the best and mostly widely known Baptist ministers. Dr. Christie, whom he succeeded, is pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church. He had served only one year as president of the mission board. In accepting his resignation and those of his associates the Southern Baptist convention at Memphis recently gave him a vote of thanks and adopted a resolution praising him and members of the retiring board for their efforts in behalf of home missions.

There was no indication at Wednesday's session whether Dr. Arch C. Cree, the present acting executive secretary and treasurer would be returned, but it is generally expected that because of Dr. Cree's record since he assumed charge of the board's administrative offices that he may have the position permanently if he so desires.

Routine business, consisting of reports and the appointment of committees, took up the time of the board Wednesday after its new officers had taken office.

Attending the meeting are: T. V. McCaul, Florida; J. C. Ball, District of Columbia; John W. Inzere, Tennessee; L. S. Gaines, Kentucky; F. L. Hardy, Alabama; W. H. Williams, North Carolina; M. T. Andrews, Texas; Carl Weber, Missouri; J. F. Tull, Arkansas; E. H. Marriner, Mississippi; J. M. Walker, South Carolina; L. A. Henderson, Georgia; Rupeer Naney, Oklahoma; H. F. Jones, Maryland; T. Ryland Sanford, Virginia; Z. F. Bond, Illinois; J. H. Coleman, New Mexico, and T. B. Hart, Arizona. The only absentee among the state members was T. V. Herendon, of Louisiana.

The following local members also were in attendance: Ellis A. Fuller, M. A. Cooper, Louie D. Newton, A. J. Moncrief, G. J. Davis, L. M. Latimer, R. Q. Leavell, B. A. Callaway, Fred Patterson, M. L. Bugg, J. M. Harrison, E. D. Thomas, Z. A. Snipes, Paul S. Etheridge, J. H. Hudson and S. A. Cowan. The resignation of W. G. Dodson as a member of the board was accepted, but his successor was not chosen.

VOTE ON CHURCH UNION IS DELAYED UNTIL JUNE 4

Detroit, May 29.—(AP)—Voting on the proposed union of the National Council of the Congregational meeting here has been deferred until the final session next Tuesday, June 4. In the meantime, the proposal will be discussed at the business sessions between now and that time.

The attitude of most of the delegates was favorable to the plan. If the Congregationalists accept it, it then will be presented to the general convention of the Christian church at a meeting in October at Piqua, Ohio.

ROOFING

Genuine RU-BER-OID SHINGLES — ROOFINGS

Colorful Varieties - Durable - Fire-Resisting

RECENTLY it has come to our attention that some canvassers from outside cities have offered to re-roof homes with what they term "ruberoid" roofing at a fixed contract price. Upon examination the roofing proved to be unknown brands—not Ruberoid. Considering the quality, the price was high. As a result, knowingly or unknowingly a roof was sold these home owners that they did not get.

To make sure history does not repeat itself at your expense, we wish to give you this warning.

Many asphalt roofings may look like Ruberoid, feel like Ruberoid and even erroneously be spoken of as Ruberoid, but there is only one Ruberoid and that's the Genuine—the roofing that is known the world over for its long years of service. And so . . . when you are about to roof or re-roof, be sure to get your estimate based on Genuine Ruberoid Roofing. It costs no more . . . will give many extra years of service . . . and frequently, the applied price (and that is what you are most interested in) is even lower.

We will be glad to give you an estimate on a Genuine Ruberoid Roof applied that will assure you of the utmost protection. Come in, write or phone so that we may show you samples.

DAY IN FINANCE
By R. L. BARNUM

Trading Turns Quiet as Market Eyes One-Day Holiday; Trend During Session Irregular as Rails Lead Recovery.

New York, May 29.—With tomorrow a holiday and the directors of the Federal Reserve bank here meeting after the close of the stock market, trading in stocks was quiet. The market opened firm, went higher the first hour, sold off between 11 and 12, and then recovered under the leadership of the rails.

Call money again renewed at 6 per cent with the rate on the outside market dropping in the noon hour to 5 per cent, this despite the approaching month-end money market requirements. Time money remained unchanged. Checks against June 1 interest and dividends go out this Friday. Wall street expects some calling of loans Friday and firmer call money that day and Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Some Wall Street people are predicting that Friday's weekly brokers' loan statement will show a decrease of $200,000,000 to $250,000,000. In usually well informed quarters a decrease is expected as a result of the liquidation in the stock market of from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000. Wall Street expected the rediscount rate here to remain unchanged.

There is no question but that the groundwork is favorable for a better market in railway shares. Gross earnings are good. Operating expenses are in hand.

Best Earning Months.

The best earnings months of the year are ahead. Railway shares are in strong hands. The floating supply is very small. Prices and income return are low compared with industrials. It is possible that large holders of industrial shares fearing a slowing down in general trade will lend a hand in the market for rails on which further liquidation in industrials might take place. Time and again recently it has been proved that very little buying puts railway shares higher.

Rails held steady during the violent liquidation of the past week in industrials. In so far, because of weakness in the industrials, there has been no opportunity to discount the favorable railway valuation decision handed down by the supreme court a week ago last Monday.

There was a two-cent recovery in wheat during the early trading, the market having become temporarily oversold. In the break stock market in the second hour 4 points were lost by Montgomery-Ward and Sears-Roebuck and 7 1-2 in International Harvester. Selling of mail order and agricultural manufacturing shares was on the wheat situation and outlook.

Gold Is Engaged.

Another $3,000,000 gold has been engaged at Buenos Aires. The new shipment leaves June 3. This makes $6,000,000 from Argentine taken by us on this movement. Steel requirements of automobile manufacturers continue to decline, according to today's weekly steel trade reviews. But it is added there is no evidence of a general decline. Order books of steel mills have been opened for third quarter delivery with prices of bars, plates, shapes advanced $1 a ton. It is predicted that May production of steel ingots will show the third consecutive month of capacity production.

Baldwin Locomotive reports that unfilled orders now on hand are 65 per cent ahead of this time last year. A year ago the company was operating at 20 per cent of capacity.

Oil shares were quiet on the weekly increase of 46,000 barrels in crude production. This increase, it was stated in oil circles, was due to the recent advance in crude oil selling prices. Predictions are made, however, that crude oil curtailment plans now under way will be successful.

Some Profit Taking.

There was some profit-taking in the late trading by holders of long stock expecting to be away over the holiday or week-end. On the decline, however, the stock market got very dull. This is the first time in two weeks that trading dried up on the decline.

Produce

ATLANTA.

Demand and trading yesterday were very slow. Receipts by rail, express and truck were all considerably lighter. This was especially noticeable on green beans. Whereas bean supplies were rather heavy a week ago they were now rather scarce. However, the demand for beans is decreasing as the market is strengthening. Strawberries supplies were rather liberal with the result that the market was weaker. Demand for strawberries was moderate. The market on green corn was slightly weaker with considerable of the stock slightly off grade. Express receipts of peaches were increasing slightly. Best stock was bringing good prices but there was practically no demand. Celery supplies were cleaning up with the market holding firm. The market on new stock potatoes was slightly weaker while the market on old stock potatoes was slightly stronger on best Minnesota and Wisconsin sacks.

SUMNER W. BACON, 80, ATLANTA PIONEER, DIES

Sumner Winn Bacon, Sr., 80, prominent Atlanta fruit and produce merchant, died late Wednesday afternoon at his home, 899 Rock Springs road, following an extended illness.

SUMNER WINN BACON.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son, in charge.

Mr. Bacon was born at LaGrange on May 21, 1849. He was a son of Thomas J. Bacon, a prominent lawyer and a captain in the Confederate army, who was killed at the battle of Seven Pines while leading his regiment into action during the disability of the commanding officer. His father was in college with Senator Benjamin H. Hill, who was a member of his fraternity, and as young lawyers they were rivals in practice in LaGrange and other counties of that judicial circuit. He was a nephew of Milton Bacon, founder of the LaGrange Female college. His mother before her marriage was Miss George Anne Merriwether.

Mr. Bacon was a member of a prominent middle Georgia family. He was a brother of the late G. M. Bacon, of Albany, and a cousin of the late Senator A. O. Bacon, Judge George Hillyer, Henry Hillyer, Dr. Scott Todd and D. C. Bacon, of Savannah.

Mr. Bacon moved to Atlanta from Macon 50 years ago. For a time he was associated with Frank E. Block Company, but entered the wholesale fruit and produce business on his own behalf 35 years ago, and continued activity in that business to the time of his last illness.

Mr. Bacon was married to Miss Sarah Jeannett Jordan, of Monticello, November 8, 1870. He is survived by his widow, five children, Thomas J. Bacon, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. R. B. Fuller, of Durham, N. C.; Mrs. Thomas B. Fox, of Cincinnati, Ohio; S. W. Bacon, Jr., and Miss Lucy May Bacon, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. A. J. Baker, Wewoka, Okla.; three cousins, R. J. Bacon, a prominent lawyer of southwest Georgia; Mrs. Walter G. Cooper and Mrs. A. R. Colcord, of Atlanta, and a number of grandchildren.

Mr. Bacon was an active member of the Second Baptist church of Atlanta for nearly 50 years, and was an ardent believer in the fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith. He was a democrat and supported with unswerving loyalty the principles of the party during his long and active career.

P.-T. A. OPPOSES SCHOOL CONTROL BY CITY COUNCIL

Resolutions opposing a proposal to place the city school administration into the hands of city council were adopted Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the Atlanta Parent-Teacher Association at Ampico hall.

It was pointed out that recent history of public school administration throughout the nation show an increasing tendency in the direction of organization into school districts under control of a corporate body usually known as the board of education.

Criticism of the present management of the city schools is not due to the organization of the board of education but to other causes, it was pointed out at the meeting. Mrs. H. G. Parks, president of the council, presided.

NEW POLICE CARS ARE PUT INTO USE FOR LOCAL FORCE

With the International Association of Police Chief's convention meeting in Atlanta all next week, when prominent police officials and commissioners from all parts of the world will be visitors here, seven new police cars will be placed into use Wednesday.

City council recently voted the purchase of 13 new cars, including a new sedan for use of Chief Beavers, who is president of the international chiefs' association. The other six cars will be placed into service within the next few days, it was learned Wednesday.

MRS. MATTIE GRANT, PIONEER WOMAN, DIES

Mrs. Grant was a native of Marietta, but had lived practically in Atlanta all her life. She took an active part in the activities of the cathedral and was one of its devoted members for more than threescore years.

RAIL LEADERS CONFER ON $3,000,000 PROJECT

Developments bring closer to conclusion the negotiations which will assure for Atlanta construction of a multi-storied commercial structure to cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 and to be located between the Pryor and Central avenue viaducts, in the heart of the business area, were seen as the outcome of visits here Tuesday and Wednesday of Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad officials and representatives of the United States Cold Storage Company of Chicago.

President J. B. Hill of the railroad, who returned to Nashville Tuesday after conference here with M. W. Borders, general counsel for the Chicago interests which will finance the proposed structure, and other principals to the transaction, declared the project to be closer to materialization than ever before, although there still remain several fundamentals to be cleared away before actual consummation of the deal. The railroad head made this explanation of latest developments in a statement to The Constitution late Wednesday night from Nashville. It was confirmed by Mr. Borders, who remained in Atlanta until Wednesday night.

The $3,000,000 proposed 17-story plant, comprising office, storage and general commercial building space, is the companion project to the new $400,000 Union depot already under way by the N. C. & St. L. at the new location facing the west side of the Forsyth street viaduct. The 17-story structure would occupy the present site of the Union station. Re-locating the Union station will result in discontinuance of some of the railroad tracks and traffic under the viaduct, although a portion of it necessarily must remain, President Hill explained in his communication Wednesday.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends for the beautiful floral offerings and kind expressions of sympathy extended in our recent bereavement.
